Overwhelming Vote Of Confidence Is Accorded Baldwin

Eight Hundred Delegates Bury Differences and Give Conservative Leader Wholehearted Support—Party Pledges Itself to Emergency Tariff on Manufactured Goods

Flays Government for Conference Failure

LONDON, Nov. 25.—This has been a red letter day in the calendar of political developments and pronouncements. Delegates to the central council of Conservative and Unionist associations, forming in effect a full "party meeting" today buried the hatchet of party civil war and gave Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin an overwhelming vote of confidence as the Conservative leader.

As if inspired by their tribute, the former Premier launched into a speech in which he denounced almost every act of the MacDonald Government since it took office, with an especially vitriolic reference to the Government's alleged failure in dealing with the economic side of the recent Imperial Conference.

EMERGENCY TARIFFS

Mr. Baldwin came out flatly for an emergency tariff on manufactured goods as soon as the Conservative party can return to power. At the same time he took a strong stand against the dumping of foreign products into Great Britain.

"Whatever stands in the way of abolishing foreign dumping, that obstacle shall be removed," he declared.

The former Prime Minister, who was obviously impressed by the unanimity of the endorsement accorded him, told the delegates that he stood at the head of a united party.

"Our party differences are past and we shall say no more about them," he said.

"Since our last meeting no event of equal importance has occurred compared with the Imperial Conference," the former Prime Minister said. "For the first time you had the Prime Ministers of the Dominions, men of all shades of opinion, urging the Government and the Mother Country to join in the attempt to found an economic union of the British Empire."

"They warned this country of the danger of delay, and that opportunity might not occur again. They have been sent away empty-handed with the mere undertaking that some of these subjects might be discussed within a year at Ottawa. And that is the only good thing that has come out of this conference, because they will be discussed by our party."

Loud cheers followed this declaration.

HAD NO POLICY

"The Government had no policy at the Conference," continued Mr. Baldwin, "because they were absolutely controlled by a knot of bigoted, fanatical free traders led by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, who, nevertheless, has at last made his great contribution to the solution of unemployment by subsidizing the Covent Garden Opera."

"I made an offer in July, in all sincerity, in the House of Commons. I told the Government that if they would go on and promote any steps in the way of tariffs or preferences with the Dominions, I would support them, and the Chancellor laughed at me. But he laughs best who laughs last."

MEETS LABOR MEMBERS

"Meanwhile, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald met his Labor party members at the House of Commons. He denied, at the outset, that the Labor meeting was called owing to the lack of discipline within the ranks."

"Mr. MacDonald declared the Government was fully alive to the seriousness of the unemployment problem and he promised to have some important announcements ready when he met his party again at an early date."

"More important, perhaps, than the Prime Minister's speech was the announcement made by Rt. Hon. Sir Charles Trevelyan, President of the Board of Education, and a member of the Cabinet, that, by arrangement with the Liberals, it had been agreed to postpone the operation of the Education Bill."

BREATHES MORE FREELY

"The opposition to the bill had been so strong that it is extremely doubtful whether it could have passed in its original form. Sir Charles confessed to having had a hard struggle with the Liberal leaders, and it was only under protest that he consented to the postponement of the operation of the bill."

"So the Ministry tonight breathes more freely because these difficulties at least—and they might have proved grave—have been surmounted, if only for the time being."

Weather Man Sends Zero Breath Across Country

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—The weather man, after beaming unusually long upon the land, growled today, shook snow from his long locks and sent a zero breath whirling across the country.

More than a score of deaths have been reported to date in various sections of the country.

Blizzards swept Manitoba. Snow whirled down upon the Middle West. Mercury that only a few days ago flirted with the eighties, shivered down to the cipher. A man froze to death in Kentucky—with the thermometer in his pocket. In South Dakota by the wagon load. Winter's first victim in the South. Sleet-slain pheasants were picked up. Wire sagged and snapped under the weight of snow in the Middle West.

Endorsed in Leadership

Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, leader of the British Conservative party, was given an overwhelming vote of confidence by delegates to the central council of Conservative and Unionist Associations. In effect, the gathering formed a full "party meeting" which buried the hatchet of party civil war. Mr. Baldwin came out flatly for an emergency tariff on manufactured goods as soon as the Conservative party can return to power.

Great Transcanada Highway Pictured as Paved Thoroughfare

Construction of Road Assured, Says Winnipeg Mayor—Victoria Man Elected to Executive of Canadian Tourist Association

WINNIPEG, Nov. 25.—Canada's proposed Atlantic-to-Pacific highway was pictured as a paved thoroughfare to delegates attending the annual meeting of the Canadian Association of Tourist and Convention Bureaus here today.

Mayor Ralph H. Webb, of Winnipeg, disclosed that Western mayors had been asked to participate in the completion of the highway on a fifty-fifty basis with the provinces.

Mr. Bennett had added at that time, said Mayor Webb, the prediction that within ten years the highway would be paved from the Maritimes to British Columbia.

Nearing completion of the convention sessions, delegates elected officers late this afternoon. Hon. Mr. Justice A. E. Arsenault, Charlottetown, was unanimously named president. Other officers elected were: First vice-president, George I. Warren, Victoria; second vice-president, C. C. Hele, Toronto; third vice-president, Col. G. F. Poussette, Winnipeg; secretary-treasurer, George A. McNamee, Montreal.

In addition to officers, the directorate includes: J. Gordon Smith, Victoria; Charles H. Webster, Vancouver; J. H. Hanna, Calgary; and John Blue, Edmonton.

Representing the Ontario Government, C. C. Hele, of Toronto, stated that Hon. George S. Henry, who acted as Premier during the absence of Hon. U. H. Ferguson, had told New Ontario delegates, seeking rural routes through their territory for the Transcanada Highway, that Ontario was prepared to build both highways asked for.

Concluding the annual convention early tonight, delegates would leave for a banquet and will leave the city early tomorrow.

Accredited delegates named are as follows: Victoria, Alderman J. L. Mara, R. H. Powell, Lindsay Crease, K. C. Gordon Cameron, Mrs. W. C. McNamee, Mrs. B. M. Brown, Esquimaux, Rev. James Elrick, Mrs. S. R. Bowden, Sanich, W. O. Wallace, Ganges, Major Turner, Sidney, A. G. Galloway, Duncan, Dr. W. B. Clayton, Nanaimo, John Bennett, Victor Harrison, Cumberland, Mrs. McDonald, Thomas Graham, Courtney, J. McLeod, Parksville, H. R. Lee, Mr. Ruston.

The delegates plan to leave on Friday evening and return on Sunday.

U.S. STORM TOLL INCREASED TO 20

DENVER, Nov. 25.—Winter's Western fatality list compiled during last week's blizzard was increased to twenty today as opening of many snow-blocked roads led to the discovery of the bodies of five additional victims in Colorado and Wyoming.

The new total included seven victims in Colorado, one each in Wyoming, Nevada, Oregon, Arizona and Texas; two in South Dakota, and three each in California and New Mexico.

WINTER HITS PRAIRIES

WINNIPEG, Nov. 25.—Winter marched into Winnipeg in earnest today, forcing the mercury down to below zero and piling the streets with snow. Other parts of Manitoba and sections of Saskatchewan felt the cold hand of winter also. Alberta escaped the wintry blasts, comparatively mild weather holding sway in the foothill province.

HEAVY RAINS CONTINUE TO VISIT EUROPE

Belgium Feels Heaviest Blow From Storm—Situation in Paris Acute

HOLLAND'S PROBLEM IS STILL SEXY

Big Hospital at Namur Flooded; Old Battlefields Are Inundated

LONDON, Nov. 25.—Rowboats splashed through the streets of Paris last night and tonight as heavy rain continued to pour down on a Europe already suffering heavily from disastrous floods.

Belgium felt the heaviest blow. Her crops were ruined, her livestock drowned in great numbers, her roads were under water, and thousands of her people temporarily homeless.

HOSPITAL IS FLOODED

The big hospital at Namur was flooded and the sick were carried to the topmost floor. The old battlefields around Neuport were inundated, and the dunes protecting the lowlands from the French to the Dutch borders were broken in many places.

The situation in Paris was acute. The Seine, already high above its normal levels, continued to rise, pouring water into the suburbs and flooding the city itself. Pumps were working all day long and although metropolitan transportation facilities were not interrupted the city is on guard for any emergency.

SHORT WATER RATIONS

The important town of Juvigny found itself in a trap with the River Orge rising on one side and the Seine menacing from the other. Paris put itself on short water rations, for the normal supply had been fouled by mud and there was no means of bringing in additional supplies of bottled water.

So serious had the situation become that local officials prepared to ask the Chamber of Deputies what the Government is going to do about the situation.

Holland's problem was still serious, with the River Hase at its greatest threat. The German Rhine was still at flood, but it was believed that it would not overflow Germany. In England the rains continued in some sections, but the menace of serious floods appeared to have passed.

Captain Boyd Brings Monoplane to Earth With Jarring Crashes

TORONTO, Nov. 25.—Bringing the travel-worn monoplane Columbia to earth with a series of jarring crashes which a moment threatened disaster, Captain Errol Boyd, Canada's only transatlantic flyer, returned today to this city, three months after leaving for his flight from Montreal to England via Charlottetown, Harbor Grace and Scilly Island.

The landing was a dramatic one. For several hours a crowd of 500 persons had waited at the Century Airport, here, in bitterly cold weather, for a sight of the plane. Finally it appeared in the east, circled the field, and dropped down for the landing. In the face of a thirty-five-mile wind, the landing gear of the ship narrowly missed telegraph wires.

As usual, the crowd, overexcited, rushed forward and tried to break through the cordon to get to the plane. Harry Connor, who navigated the ship on her Atlantic flight, leaped out of the window and waved frantically to the crowd to get back. The Columbia was still rolling, with her propeller swinging lazily, moving toward the crowd, and finally Connor shouted "We have no brakes."

The transatlantic flyers were given a great welcome here. At the City Hall, Captain Boyd was presented with a cabinet of silver, and Lieutenant Connor with a gold wrist watch.

May Add to Conference Committee

LONDON, Nov. 25.—The Indian round table conference struck its first snag today in efforts to get started on the work of the important Federal Relations Committee.

This group, which was first established with thirty-two members and then was increased to forty-nine, will be again enlarged to include all eighty-six delegates, if a recommendation passed by the British Indian delegation is adopted. The two Indian women attending the meeting thereby would attain membership on the committee, which is considered to have the fate of the conference largely in its hands.

The British Indian delegation, presided over by the Aga Khan, today expressed the view a Federal Relations Committee of forty-nine could not be considered a small expert committee, and since the scope of its investigations was likely to increase, the British Indian delegates favored a committee of all attending the conference. These later could be divided into small working parties for settling the various Indian problems.

Final decision on the size may not be taken until Friday, when the federal relations group is scheduled to meet again.

HAVANA, Nov. 25.—Three hundred business and professional men of Cuba have banded together in a "national defence commission" to seek a way to restoration of political order in Cuba.

The organization meeting of the group was held last night. Governor Antonio Ruiz of Havana Province taking the lead in the movement.

The commission will outline a plan for submission to the President which would guarantee preservation of order in Havana and the remainder of the Republic.

INDIAN POLICY OF BRITAIN IS ABLY UPHELD

British Envoy Urges Extension of London Naval Treaty Principles

LAUDS RELATIONS OF BRITAIN AND STATES

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Guest of honor tonight at a dinner of the English-Speaking Union of the United States, Sir Ronald Lindsay, British Ambassador, called the relations between Great Britain and the United States the most pacific in the history of their separate political existence.

He defended briefly his country's policy in India and urged extension of the principles of the London Naval Treaty to further the cause of international disarmament of every kind.

In his optimism over Anglo-American relations, Sir Ronald was joined by a fellow speaker, Alanson B. Houghton, former United States Ambassador to the Court of St. James, and Sir Ronald's defence of Britain's Indian policy was elaborated upon by Sir Harcourt Butler, former high British official in India.

Great Britain learned 150 years ago that liberal democracy was a thing to be exported abroad as well as defended at home, the British Ambassador said.

"Only a few years after the establishment of our own independence we endowed Canada with representative institutions," he continued. "South Africa had free government only five or six years after the end of the Boer War—Australia in the forties."

"It is quite inconceivable that any British Government should make to India an offer that would not be regarded by any impartial outside observer as instinct with true liberalism."

SASKATCHEWAN CITIES ELECT THEIR MAYORS

SASKATOON, Nov. 25.—James Balfour, Mayor of Regina in 1915, will again be Mayor of the capital city of Saskatchewan in 1931. He was elected by a majority of 1,695 over Mayor James McEwen in a field of four candidates, and his vote was nearly equal to the combined ballots cast for the retiring Mayor and Alderman Wes Champ.

TOKIO, Nov. 26.—Nearly two hundred persons were known to have perished today when an earthquake of more than thirty minutes' duration spread death and destruction across the northern portion of the Izu Peninsula, about one hundred and twenty-five miles southwest of Tokio.

Estimates placed the number of injured as high as seven hundred, while property throughout the affected area was damaged heavily.

MONTREAL, Nov. 25.—The Gazette today publishes the following in a dispatch from Ottawa:

"With the return of some of the delegates and officials from the Imperial Conference, some interesting rumors are in circulation."

"One is that Sir William Mulock, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Ontario, will retire soon and that Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice, will be given a place on that court."

"Other rumors relate to two other Cabinet positions. One is that Charles W. Bell, M.P. for West Hamilton, will early in the new year be named Minister of Labor."

"Should the Portfolio of Justice be vacated by the appointment of Mr. Guthrie to the bench, it is possible that Hon. W. A. Gordon, now Minister of Immigration and Mines, and Acting Minister of Justice during Mr. Guthrie's absence in London, will be chosen for promotion to the east block."

GIVEN NO INTIMATION (Special to The Colonist)

OTTAWA, Nov. 25.—If Hon. Hugh Guthrie purposes retiring from the Cabinet he has given no intimation of such intention to either Premier Bennett or his colleagues in Ottawa. Such was the official assurance given today. Previous to the last rejection he had a serious illness and was unable to take part in the campaign until the last ten days.

When Premier Bennett was forming his Cabinet, Mr. Guthrie was the first choice and was given the Portfolio of Justice, for which he is eminently qualified, as nearly twenty years ago, if the Liberals had continued in power, he would have been taken into the Laurier Cabinet with the same portfolio. Only a failure of his health would, it is believed here, induce him to quit the justice department. He will be here tomorrow and his Cabinet colleagues are hopeful he will announce his intention to remain in the Government.

WILL REMAIN FOR PRESENT

Senator Robertson entered the Cabinet conditional that he would hold the portfolio only for a few months until Mr. Bennett could find a satisfactory successor. He is vice-president of the railway telegraphers and had leave from his organization to take the Department of Labor temporarily. There is no doubt he will remain in office while the unemployment relief is in effect.

So far no choice has been made for the new Finance Minister or Deputy Finance Minister. Premier Bennett holds the Portfolio of Finance and it is believed will do so during the next session. Cabinet reorganization may come, but it is probable it will be in June next, January of next year. There are two other ministers who by that time may desire to retire and there will be a severe reshuffle.

DEPARTMENTAL CHANGES

During the next few weeks departmental reorganization will be the work in hand. Several deputy ministers will be superannuated and some other higher offices transferred to different work. The deputy minister of finance is now vacant. This carries with it a salary of $15,000 a year. For this position it is believed some man familiar with banking will be brought into the service.

HALEMAUMAU IS ACTIVE

HILO, Hawaii, Nov. 25.—Halemaumau, the crater of Kilauea volcano, showed no signs of diminishing activity today.

Lava at the bottom of the 1,200-foot-deep crater has formed terraces, each about ten acres in area. One lake was ninety feet deep.

SAYS C.P.R. CONSTRUCTION CREATED NO BIG FORTUNES

VANCOUVER, Nov. 25.—"It is most implausible to say that the Canadian Pacific Railway, the attribute of greatness, for its construction was a great enterprise, in money, but, unfortunately for Canada, the spirit of the Scottish Highlands was in their blood and they elected for adventure rather than security."

Speaking of the life and work of Sir William Cornelius Van Horne, general manager of the Canadian Pacific during construction days, and afterwards its president, Mr. Coleman stated it was from that James J. Hill, Canadian-born member of the original Canadian Pacific syndicate, should have withdrawn from it because its vital link was not to be built through the United States, and that the man who fought against him was the Dutch-American Van Horne, who, having secured Canada as the land of his adoption, was firmly resolved that Canadian traffic would move over Canadian soil.

VALUE OF RESEARCH SUBJECT OF LECTURE

Dr. C. S. Beals Gives Fascinating Address to Astronomical Society—Officers Elected

"The Value of Scientific Research" formed the subject of a fascinating address, delivered last night by Dr. C. S. Beals to members of the Victoria Astronomical Society of Canada, at the annual meeting of that body, held at the Victoria College.

Officers elected for the ensuing year were as follows: Honorary president, W. E. Harper, M.A.; president, C. S. Beals, Ph.D.; first vice-president, G. M. Shrum, Ph.D.; second vice-president, N. C. Stewart; librarian, W. T. Bridge; secretary-treasurer, P. H. Hughes; council, J. P. Hibben, R. W. Hunter, Captain H. H. Hughes, H. Boyd Brydon and T. P. O. Menzies.

USE OF ASTRONOMY

Dr. Beals opened his address by explaining that the question was frequently asked: "Of what use is astronomy?"
Any arguments, he said, which might be advanced to justify a large expenditure of money and of human effort in the cause of astronomy must necessarily be of a nature to arguments put forward in support of other branches of pure scientific research.

Between physics and chemistry there was only an arbitrary division. The same was true, to a lesser extent, of chemistry, biology and geology.

EARLY TIMES

The lecturer spoke of astronomy as it was studied in early times. "In endeavoring to explain natural phenomena," said the speaker, "the ancients usually took the wrong turning. This fact may be attributed to their lack of appreciation of the value of experiment as the final test of scientific truth."
"Nevertheless they may boast the works of Aristotle, Euclid and many others."

RISE OF SCIENCE

Dr. Beals spoke of the rise of science from the Renaissance period to modern times, tracing its course through the dark ages to more enlightened centuries.
He explained the practical application of science, which, he said, should place scientific research in the forefront of useful and valuable human activities.

NEW SERUM SAID TO BE EFFECTIVE

By JANE DIXON
(Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance)

There is important news for mothers, to whom the dread infantile paralysis germ is a constant menace.

Members of the New York County Medical Society by Dr. H. E. Neustaedter that, in company with Dr. J. Banahoff, he has developed a serum which has proven effective in the treatment of more than sixty cases of the disease. In some of the cases, paralysis had already set in. The serum is prepared by injecting horses with brain or spinal column substance known to contain the virus of poliomyelitis or infantile paralysis. After several injections the horses' blood produces immunizing substance for prevention and amelioration of the disease.

No ill that human flesh is heir to takes a more heart-breaking toll of its victims than infantile paralysis. When it does not actually kill, it often sentences the sufferer to a living death by withering the body and cutting the unfortunate habitant of that body off from all further usefulness or activity.

It is worthy of note that king horses, always man's best friend in the animal kingdom, may do him this further and invaluable service.

RUNS FIVE MILES IN FORTY-SEVEN MINUTES AT 72

Not many men at 30 today, especially city men, can run five miles straight away, in any time. Yet, on January 28, 1930, Dr. Robt. O. Jackson, at 72, did this in forty-seven minutes, before 6 a.m. It's only a matter of keeping the blood normally alkaline, or nonacid, which he does by eating alkaline Roman Meal, the only alkali-forming grain food, because the only food containing flax-oil. Because of a disease heart twenty-two years ago, Dr. Jackson was given only four months to live. He can suspend his body between two chairs, resting on heels and head, with 180 pounds on his abdomen—a great feat at any age, but at 72, marvellous! MEMBER ASKS DATA ON GASOLINE PRICES

Auto Club Committee Meets D. B. Plunkett, Who Suggests Getting Exact Information

The local branch of the Automobile Club of British Columbia will gather data dealing with the price of gasoline in this province for submission to those in authority for use in any move that may be made for a reduction in the wholesale price which is advocated. This action follows the submission of the matter to D. B. Plunkett, M.P., in accordance with the resolution passed at the meeting of the club directors and retail dealers on Monday afternoon.

Mr. Plunkett desired to have the facts upon which the claim for a reduction is based, and suggested that, in order to deal properly with the matter, it would be advisable to have as full and accurate information as possible. With such information it would be possible to decide what the course of action should be. The member for the city felt that, if this matter was to go before the Prime Minister, Mr. H. B. Bennett, and the Minister of Justice, Hon. Hugh Outhrie, it would be absolutely necessary to have exact data upon which to base any requests. The secretary of the club is therefore gathering the necessary information upon which to present the case before Mr. Plunkett and possibly later to members of the Government of Canada.

F. P. BURDEN TO TAKE UP DUTIES

New B.C. Agent-General in London Will Sail on January 2

BY-ELECTION IN NORTH

F. P. Burden, M.P.P., appointed to succeed F. A. Pauline, who is voluntarily retiring from the post of British Columbia Agent-General in London, will sail with Mrs. Burden from Saint John on January 2, to take up his new duties. Mr. Burden plans to leave British Columbia before Christmas, to spend some time at his family home in New Brunswick, before sailing.

His resignation from the Provincial Legislature, it is expected, will be placed in the hands of the authorities shortly. This will throw open a seat at Fort George, necessitating a by-election to fill the vacancy.

No date has yet been fixed for the holding of the by-election, it was stated yesterday by Premier Tolmie.

BELIEVES TRADE WITH CHINA WILL INCREASE

B.C. Canned Milk, Salmon, Apples and Lumber Afford Opportunities in Orient

Canned milk, salmon and lumber, with fruit in season, are lines of British Columbia exports to the Orient which show every evidence of increasing, it was stated here yesterday by Paul Sykes, Canadian trade commissioner at Hongkong, who was in consultation with the officials of the markets branch, Department of Agriculture.

Canned milk, some $15,000 worth of which has been shipped in the present season, was found superior to other brands imported in China, and its consumption was increasing, he said. British Columbia apples to the extent of three carloads from the present season's crop have already gone forward to Hongkong, and more extensive shipments are likely to follow.

Salmon and lumber, competing with United States products, had found a definite footing, and British Columbia exports in both these lines could be greatly increased, Mr. Sykes believes. The present tour of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce party in the Orient he classed as a move in the right direction, and this, in his opinion, could be followed up by the placing of direct company representatives in the field.

BRITAIN RECOGNIZES NORWEGIAN CLAIM TO ISLE OF JAN MÅKEN

LONDON, Nov. 25.—It was officially announced today that Great Britain had recognized the Norwegian claim to the Island of Jan Måken, a desolate land lying between Greenland and North Norway in the Arctic Sea. Norway's claim to sovereignty was put forward in a dispatch from Oslo to the Island of Jan Måken, discovered by Henry Hudson, British navigator, in 1607. The island is thirty-four miles long and nine miles wide at its greatest breadth.

No Announcements After Cabinet Meeting

OTTAWA, Nov. 25.—Cabinet met this afternoon with a fair attendance of ministers. Hon. C. H. Cahan, Secretary of State, who returned to Ottawa yesterday afternoon from overseas, was present. Sir George Perley, acting Prime Minister, who presided at the meeting, had nothing to give out at its conclusion. Another meeting will take place tomorrow afternoon.

GASOLINE EXPLOSION CLAIMS TWO LIVES

CODERRE, Sask., Nov. 25.—Gasoline explosion claimed the lives of two women in a farm home, twelve miles south of here tonight. Mrs. A. Allan and her daughter were using gasoline to clean clothes when the oil became ignited and exploded, asphyxiating the two women.

Two sons, working in nearby fields, saw the flames pouring from the house and rushed to assist their mother and sister. Life was extinct, however, when they succeeded in carrying the mother and daughter into the open.

INSURANCE WITH APARTMENT

By a new plan owners of a co-operative apartment building in Lublin, Poland, get a life-insurance policy with each apartment. The co-operative company, having a building site and sufficient capital to raise the wall of their 700-room building has received a mortgage loan of $168,000, payable in twelve years, from an insurance company. The co-operatives at the same time secured from another insurance company life insurance policies for its members. In this way it has been able to secure loans totaling $700,000, or $1,000 against each room. By the plan of payment each member of the co-operative apartment company will have its apartment fully paid for in twelve years, and should be carry on the policy he will be insured for $758.

POLICEMAN HAS "STRAD"

That he is the owner of a genuine Stradivarius violin is the belief of Officer Donald Grant of the Glasgow, Scotland, police force. A member of the Stradivarius Quartet, who gave a concert in Glasgow a few days ago, is specially interesting himself in the instrument. The violin was presented to Grant by his grandfather, the late N. Cameron, of Strathpey, to whom it was given by the late Sir Henry Payne, a former Commissioner of the Metropolitan Police. The violin is fourteen inches long, and bears the inscription on the inside panel—Antonius Stradivarius Cremonensis Faciebat, 1697. It has been noted that the name of the craftsman has been spelled with a "u," and according to an authority Stradivarius after 1700 replaced the "u" with a "v."

Ferguson to State Plans Thursday

OTTAWA, Nov. 25.—The Ottawa Evening Journal today says:

"All Ottawa and district members of the Ontario Legislature have been summoned to Toronto to a luncheon in the Parliament Buildings, at noon Thursday, when it is expected Premier G. Howard Ferguson will announce his plans for the future."

"Generally the summons is interpreted here to mean that Mr. Ferguson has decided to accept the post of Canadian High Commissioner to London, which has been offered him by Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Prime Minister of Canada."

"If this proves correct, it is expected the caucus of Ontario members may see Hon. George S. Henry, Minister of Highways, selected as successor to Mr. Ferguson."

SCHOOL READERS IN ELEMENTARY GRADES TO BE STANDARDIZED

EDMONTON, Nov. 25.—School readers in the elementary grades, one to six, are to be standardized in the four Western provinces, and a committee set up in Alberta by the Minister of Education for the purpose of considering the matter will meet on Friday and Saturday of next week.

This committee will work in co-operation with similar committees in British Columbia, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, and a smaller committee representing the four provinces will meet later to harmonize the recommendations of the provincial committees and agree upon a uniform set of texts.

It is expected to have the new readers, thus unified and standardized, ready for use in the Fall of 1933. The present elementary readers have been in use for about ten years.

YOUTH REVEALS PLANS MADE TO BOMB BUILDING

Says C. O'Malley Sent Trunk to Spokane Newspaper Office

IS OFFERED $500 TO SIGN BILL OF LADING

TACOMA, Nov. 25.—Detective Sam Blake, of Tacoma, was speeding to San Francisco today with information he expected would lead him to the hiding place of C. O'Malley, who is believed to have sent from Seattle the trunk bomb that was meant to blow up the Spokane-Review and Chronicle newspaper building in Spokane last Saturday.

With Blake was a youth who said he was in the room with O'Malley in the Bush Hotel in Seattle Friday night while the time apparatus attached to the bomb was being set. The boy, whose name was not divulged, said O'Malley offered him $500 to sign a bill of lading for the shipment of the trunk to Spokane, but he refused.

REPRESENTED A GANG
"He told me he was representing a gang," the boy was said to have informed Detective Blake. "He said he had several other bomb jobs to pull off in the Northwest and wanted me to go along with him for $500 a job. When I told him I wouldn't, he said he'd put me on a spot if I did not keep quiet."

The boy's story was that he "got cold feet" at the last minute and refused to sign the bill of lading. The bomber then had the lad tape his fingers and exhibiting the taped hands to the Japanese hotel clerk, asked him to sign the bill, exhibiting the supposedly injured hand as an excuse.

The youth and bomber, after dispatching the trunk to Tacoma from Seattle and the latter remained all night in the boy's home, leaving the next day for San Francisco, where the "gang" was supposed to be.

SEVERAL MORE JOBS
The boy related that the bomber had said that he received $2,500 to move the bomb along the line to Spokane and that he had several more jobs in the West and wanted the boy to go along with him on the $500 basis for each job. The youth told Detective Blake that while he helped the bomber arrange the trunk in the hotel room, he was in with the bomber at the possibility of the large number of persons who might be killed and he secretly pulled out one of the wires that formed the connection.

The boy was reported not under arrest, but under police protection. He was taken to San Francisco secretly to help find the members of the gang. He said he had not seen the bomber through bootlegging activities on Puget Sound.

VETERAN WINNIPEG JOURNALIST PASSES

Walter F. Payne Recently Completed Half Century of Service With Manitoba Free Press

WINNIPEG, Nov. 25.—Walter F. Payne, veteran Winnipeg newspaper man and for nearly fifty years a member of the editorial staff of The Manitoba Free Press, died here this morning. He had been ill only a week, being taken to hospital last Wednesday.

Within a few months of completing a half-century of service with the Winnipeg paper, Mr. Payne was widely known in both Eastern and Western Canada.

Mr. Payne suffered a general breakdown in health a week ago and failed to respond to treatment. He had recently returned from a visit to the East.

STARTED WORK IN 1881
From a career as jobroom compositor, started in a small Ontario printing office, Mr. Payne turned to the news side of The Free Press a few years after he started work in Winnipeg in 1881. For a number of years he was telegraph editor as well as superintendent of the composing room. Advanced to the position of news editor, he remained "executive head of The Free Press" news department for nearly thirty-five years. In his later years he was assistant managing editor, in charge of features.

Born in Chatham in 1853, Mr. Payne received his public and high school education there. From a job in a small Chatham printing office, he moved to Toronto and a few years later to Winnipeg.

PROMINENT CURLER
Widely known as a newspaper man, he also was one of the most prominent curlers in Canada. A few years ago he was made an honorary member of the Royal Caledonian Association, and had received from time to time practically every honor it was possible for his curling brethren to bestow upon him. He served as president of the Manitoba Curling Association and was the first president of the honorary life members' section. In 1920 he accompanied a selected team of Canadian curlers on a tour of Scotland.

Mr. Payne was married in 1905 to Miss Daisy Blackburn, of Cedar

Denmark Joins Norway In Great Celebration

Twenty-Fifth Anniversary of Accession of King Haakon VII to Throne of Norway Is Marked in Festivities at Oslo

OSLO, Norway, Nov. 25.—Denmark joined with Norway today in celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of accession of King Haakon VII to the country's throne. King Haakon, until he became ruler of Norway, was Prince Carl of Denmark.

King Haakon and Queen Maud naturally were the chief figures in the national celebration, but grouped around them in the capital's principal church in a solemn commemorative ceremony this morning was a royal company that included King Christian and Queen Alexandra of Denmark, other members of the Danish Royal Family, and Prince George, of England, who is the nephew of Queen Maud.

APPLAUD ROYAL FIGURES
Many thousands of Oslo's population turned out to applaud the royal figures as they arrived at the church. The commemorative service was a most character.

Many gifts have reached the royal pair from all over the world. The Shipowners' Association, representing Norway's great mercantile fleet, donated a large painting depicting

HISTORIC BRITISH ARMY LINK SNAPPED

Garrison Withdrawn From Channel Islands—Station There Since William of Orange

LONDON, Nov. 25.—An interesting historical link between the British army and the Channel Islands was snapped at midnight last night when the Second Battalion, Royal West Kents, was officially withdrawn from the islands.

Ever since William of Orange abolished the Channel Islands' neutrality they have been continually garrisoned with British troops. But now the islands will have only the Royal Guernsey Militia and the Royal Jersey Light Infantry.

In 1928 the British Government refused to keep on taking responsibility for maintaining the militia in the Channel Islands, resulting in a saving of $30,000 in the annual army estimates. The present withdrawal will effect a greater economy.

Since the days of Napoleon the islands have had little strategic value, but the present withdrawal is viewed with regret both by troops, who found them a most agreeable station, and by the islands' business community, who found the British soldiers excellent customers.

The Channel Islands, united with England since the Norman Conquest, have been frequently invaded by the French, notably in 1461 and 1759, and have been forced to submit to the inhabitants, numbering roughly 100,000, are of Norman stock and the official language is French.

Yorkshire Manufacturers Respond to Representations Made Through B.C. House

Appreciation of the action of Premier Tolmie in drawing attention to opportunities for the manufacture of woollens in British Columbia was contained in a reply received by the Premier yesterday from George M. Hirst, managing head of George H. Hirst & Company, of Batley, Yorkshire, England.

GUSTAF A. ROEDDE DIES ON MAINLAND

VANCOUVER, Nov. 25.—Gustaf A. Roedde, aged seventy-two, founder of the well-known bookbinding business which bears his name, died yesterday after 11 p.m. on Monday at his home, Drummond Drive. A resident of Vancouver more than forty years, he had been in failing health for a year.

Mr. Roedde came to British Columbia in 1886 at the request of the Provincial Government, which desired establishment of a bindery in the province to provide for official printing needs. He settled in Victoria at first, but in 1888 he came to Vancouver and took charge of the bindery department of the News-Advertiser newspaper here.

Shortly afterwards, seeing the possibilities of a bookbinding and printing establishment in this city, he entered business for himself, his headquarters on Cordova Street.

COCKER NAMED AS CANDIDATE

Conservatives of Omineca Select Standard Bearer for Next Elections

VOTING NOT EXPECTED

VANDERHOOF, Nov. 25.—Representatives from all over the immense constituency of Omineca met in the Community Hall, Burns Lake, on Monday at a nomination convention to elect a standard bearer for the Conservative party to contest that riding during the next provincial general elections.

Two names were nominated and voted upon—Samuel W. Cocker, of Vanderhoof, and Arthur Sheford, of Wistach. Both men have been candidates in two previous general elections. There was only one ballot taken, and Cocker received two-thirds of the votes cast. Afterwards Sheford moved that Cocker's nomination be made unanimous, which was seconded by William J. Rimes and carried.

When shown the above news despatch Premier Tolmie said that the nominating convention at Burns Lake was purely a local affair and did not in any way indicate an early general election. There was no possibility of holding an election for several years. "Why should we?" he asked. "We are stronger today in the House than we were when we took office in 1928."

BENEFIT CONCERT TO BE GIVEN FOR SCOUTS

The concert to be given on December 5, in the Empress Hotel ballroom, by Mrs. Sydney Oliver and Countess J. de Suzannet, with the assistance of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Spencer and Mrs. Clifford Warr, promises to be an outstanding musical event.

The programme is in itself of unusual interest, one of the principal features being two groups of duets, Mrs. Oliver taking the soprano and the Countess the alto part. Duet singing is a charming and difficult achievement, and one which is not often enough presented on the modern concert programme.

These two groups of duets will include classical as well as operatic arias by such masters as Puccini, Lulli, Mozart, Donizetti, Schubert, Brahms, Leo Delibes, thus showing a variety of different types of music, and songs in English, French, German and Italian. Nor will an example of Celtic folk lore be omitted, as the programme will also include that beautiful old song, "Turn Ye to Me."

Each singer will also contribute a group of solo songs.

Mrs. Sydney Oliver will begin her group with the well-known classic, "Vol Che Sapete," from Mozart's "Nozze di Figaro," followed by "Walden Song" by Hugo Wolf, sung in German; two songs in English, the first, "Sweet Chance That Led My Steps Abroad," by Michael Head, a much-sung modern English composition, and "Ecstasy," by Walter Morse Rummel.

Countess J. de Suzannet's solo group will consist mostly of songs by modern English and American composers; one of the beautiful Georgian poems set to music by John A. Carpenter; Oscar Wilde's delightful "Symphony in Yellow," on music by Ch. Griffes; "Gathering Daffodils," a clever modern poem reminiscent of Elizabethan charm, and adapted to an old English tune by Arthur Somervell; and Walter Kramer's "The Parting Duck."

Miss Eileen Dumbleton will be the accompanist both for the duet and solo groups.

Mr. and Mrs. Spencer's instrumental trio, violin and cello, with Mrs. Clifford Warr as pianist, will greatly contribute to the beauty and variety of the evening. They will give: "Trio, Opus 18," by Saint-Saens, a work never before heard in Victoria, which should therefore be of great interest to all lovers of chamber music.

This concert, which is to be given under the patronage of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and of Viscount Colville, should appeal to all Victoria music lovers. The entire proceeds are to be devoted to the Third Troup of Victoria Boy Scouts.

ASK REVISION OF B.C. CARRIER REGULATIONS

Say Authorized Companies Only Should Be Allowed to Carry Freight on Highways

Common carrier provisions of the new highway regulations of the province, dealing with freight loads on highways, were the subject of representations to the Government yesterday by a delegation of Mainland and Island transportation men. W. F. McClintock, W. Saddle and Hugh Dutton, on behalf of the delegation, asked enforcement of the regulations to provide that freight carrying would be restricted to properly licensed companies.

Relations already on the statute books, it was stated, give the Government power to enforce this system, and to prevent unauthorized persons from engaging in the hauling of freight.

Livestock Case

In the County Court yesterday there commenced the trial of an action arising out of the sale of a bull to E. R. Hobbs. Two defendants are named in the action, George Clark and A. G. Tilson, J. P. Walls, who appears for the plaintiff Hobbs, said that he was unable to ascertain exactly which of the defendants were responsible and preferred to take the course of seeking damages from both in the hope that the court would, during the progress of the trial, be able to decide the point.

Norman Whitaker appears for the defendant, while W. H. Bullock-Webster appears for Tilson. The case is still in progress.

THE WHEAT POOL'S FAILURE

No one who is correctly informed of the consequences that have ensued, and they are so patent as to be inescapable, can fail to have come to the conclusion that it would have been far better for the prosperity of the Dominion if there never had been such an organization as a Wheat Pool. The losses which it has brought down upon the heads of its members are greater than those ever experienced in the country hitherto through the operations of any organization. The effects of those losses are felt adversely throughout every ramification of our industrial life.

There was never a more fallacious argument embraced by our farmers than of "orderly marketing," the reason which the Wheat Pools claim justifies their existence. In Stanford University of California there is a Food Research Institute which examines all matters within its purview in a dispassionate way. That Institute says that, for the purpose of giving psychological improvement to the wheat market, even dumping is to be preferred to increasing the carry-over. In this matter of orderly marketing the Wheat Pools appear to have overlooked the fact that the carrying over of large percentages of crops is a costly business. It is estimated that a year's storage amounts to 18 cents per bushel. Thus, in order to break even in a year's time, the wheat must be sold at 18 cents per bushel higher than the price obtainable at the time it was stored. An examination of the price of wheat over a period of thirty-eight years shows that in only three of those did the price rise 12 cents per bushel higher than in the preceding season.

The gamble of the Wheat Pools was one in which the law of averages was distinctly unfavorable to their venture. In the matter of odds the chances of their obtaining the increased price they sought was about 12 to 1. Thus they took chances much greater than those taken by a gambler at Monte Carlo, where the odds are only about 37 to 36 against a player. One commentator on the subject, Mr. Sydney B. Gambell, says there are other factors to be considered. One is that the mere fact of the carry-over being large will of itself tend to prevent the price of the next season showing a sufficient increase to make the carrying operation profitable. Moreover, he says: "If you have succeeded in your object of raising the price level of the season out of which you are carrying the grain, as a certain concomitant you have kept acreage in other countries bigger than it otherwise would have been."

The conclusion reached by Mr. Gambell is that "nothing so certainly makes for disorderly marketing as a huge carry-over, and nothing is so likely to cause a post-harvest depression, for the simple reason of elevator congestion." The Stanford University authority points out that the removal of wheat from the market by the dumping process does cause it to disappear. It goes into consumption. On the other hand, removing wheat from the market to increase the carry-over does not mean it disappears. On the contrary, "the holding country merely goes through the motion of trying to deceive the world as to its existence."

In effect what has happened is this. On August 1, 1925, the total carry-over of old crop Canadian wheat was 29,000,000 bushels, whereas on August 1, 1930, it was 130,000,000 bushels, or more than fourfold the 1925 figure. One result was that the price of No. 1 Northern Manitoba in July last averaged lower than at any time for more than fifteen years. Now, some five months later, it is averaging a good deal lower. The price of No. 1 Northern was 96 cents at Fort William in July. Mr. Gambell says it is possible to conclude on the basis of the facts that "the Canadian Pool has been engaged in a gigantic gamble, and that the information on which it declares these operations were conducted, has set up a record for ignorance and ill-advisedness which will be hard to beat." All this argues that when the Wheat Pools are able to arrive at some approximate liquidation of their present very precarious position they should disappear for good and all.

DANGERS OF CARBON MONOXIDE

The Provincial Board of Health of Quebec has issued a pamphlet which deals with the measures that should be adopted to lessen the dangers of carbon monoxide which is responsible for a growing number of deaths. It is pointed out that this gas is colorless and odorless and that exposure to small concentrations during several hours, and to large concentrations during a few minutes, may cause death. The gas comes from automobile exhausts, gas ranges, illuminating gas appliances, gas generators and coal-burning furnaces and stoves. It is due to the incomplete combustion of gasoline, gas or coal.

The advice tendered by the Quebec Board of Health is that gas ranges and generators should be provided with exhaust flues which would lead the products of combustion into the chimney of the house, and that stove chimneys should always be kept working properly. The greatest danger from carbon monoxide in automobiles appears to be in garages. In this respect a special warning is issued to motorists to the effect: "Don't flirt with death by running your engine in a closed garage." It is noted that the average automobile, in warming up, discharges from its exhaust about one cubic foot of carbon monoxide per minute. In an ordinary sized garage, where there is not enough ventilation for this gas to escape, enough is produced in less than two minutes to injure health, and in five minutes to cause asphyxia. The moral is that the door and windows of a garage should be kept open while the engine of the car is running. This is a simple precaution but one that is not always observed.

IMMIGRATION PROBLEM IN U.S.A.

Two causes, one permanent and one transient, may lead to temporary limitation by Congress of immigration from other North American countries into the United States. There has been for some years a large and continually increasing influx of Mexicans into California and Texas. This has, to some extent, defeated the policy underlying restrictions placed on immigration from Europe. There has been something like fatality in barring out Scandinavians, for instance, while admitting unlimited numbers of Mexican peons. At the same time, it was difficult to explain to Mexico, without giving offence, why her people should be barred while those of another country bordering on the United States were admitted freely.

The second and temporary reason is, of course, the present unemployment in the United States. No country, with several millions of its people unemployed, at such a time, can desire the coming of further wage-earners looking for employment. This applies even in the case of newcomers, who are desirable as permanent residents. In fact, the more intelligent, adaptive and efficient they are, the more they will compete with others already in the country. It is doubtful, however, if many Canadians are at present thinking of going to the United States to look for employment in view of conditions there. On the Mexican border, the situation may be different.

Meanwhile, under treaty rights which have been confirmed by the United States courts, Canadians resident in Canada may be employed in the United States, and may go back and forth across the boundary, daily, to their work. On the Canadian side of the Detroit River there are several thousand of these, and there are also many on the Canadian side of the Niagara River. Elsewhere there are few.

The London Times has made its estimate of the Overseas Prime Ministers who attended the Imperial Conference. Of Premier Bennett it says that by common consent he steadily grew in stature as the weeks went by. "He set the ball rolling at the outset"—to quote The Times, "even if his debut was thought at the time to be a trifle too dramatic and perhaps also a trifle immature. By the end of the Conference he had established a great reputation as a statesman of real power, of practical business experience and with a capacity for expression." Of the British Government, The Times says: "It has unquestionably emerged with shaken credit, not so much from any positive disagreement with its policy, as from a deepening doubt whether it has any policy at all."

Collier's Weekly, an American publication, in alluding to the fact that New York had 401 homicides within a year, Chicago, 498 and London only twenty, says: "The first step in any successful effort to throttle crime in an American city is to take the police, the court and the penal authorities out of politics. No policeman, no judge, no prison warden is free to administer the law and to protect society so long as his appointment to office and his hope of promotion depend upon the favor of politicians. We have used these public offices as the perquisites of partisan politics and we have reaped a harvest of corruption, crime and violence unparalleled in any modern country."

TO A FIRST HOUSE

If, in some other years, these four sweet walls
 Which we call home shall know an alien hand,
 And we go on to other ports and calls,
 I wonder if they still will understand,
 As now they heartily seem to,
 To know, of what we made them: how we caught
 Of a first house for love; and how we wrought
 It with such joy. When spring returns again
 Will this small garden think of my bright spade,
 And how we stood bareheaded in the rain
 To greet with ecstasy the first green blade?
 "The apple tree, the singing, and the gold"
 Must they go also if a house is sold?
 —Dorothy D. Miles, in The New York Times.

THE STAR

Fight the good fight but learn to lose with grace;
 Not finished yet the fight, not run the race.
 Failure hath solace that is all her own;
 What joys could dawn if sorrows were unknown?
 When earthly things are curtailed by the dark
 We lift our eyes to the eternal arc.
 Where clouds that lowered at the fall of night
 Now shine like islands in a sea of light.
 Friendly, insistent, cometh from afar
 The beckoning of a solitary star.

Blow, blow, thou winter wind,
 Thou art not so making
 As man's ingratitude.
 —Shakespeare.

One of the big newspapers in one of the big United States cities has solved the problem of unemployment—as unemployment affects the editorial staff of that newspaper. It has adopted the five-day week, but the employees of the big paper are not going to receive six days' pay for five days' work. The men holding the higher editorial positions will be required to work six days for five days' pay. All editors and reporters holding subordinate positions will work five days a week for five days' pay. The arrangement has been made for the purpose of distributing the work so that no members of the staff may be "laid off" and receive no pay at all, and it is to continue until the dawn of a brighter and better business day.

Thus one of the institutions which creates and directs public opinion in the United States has set an example to all the rest of the country. Many of the leaders in other industries have declared that the problems of over-production and under-employment can be solved only by the adoption of a shorter working day or a shorter working week, but we have never read of one industrial leader who proclaimed his willingness to accept a scale of pay based upon the days or the hours of work. The general attitude of labor on the question is the answer of the leader of the coal miners of Britain when there was a strike in that industry: "Not a penny off the pay, not a minute on the day."

Such is human nature. Someone must make concessions. Let the other fellow make the concessions. What we have held. The editors on the big newspapers who have voluntarily offered to work six days a week for five days' pay have made sacrifices for the benefit of their fellow-workers. If the employees of the other departments of the newspaper have volunteered to do the same thing, nothing has been published about it. At the same time, we are human, like the employees about whom nothing has been said, and live in hope that the test which has been applied to the editors of the big newspaper may never be applied to the editors of any of the newspapers of Canada. Thus far there does not appear to have been any necessity for such a heroic remedy. The bigger the country, the harder the depression falls upon it.

Everybody has been reading about the conference now discussing the future political status of India. We have been reading about that and wondering what would be the outcome of it. We wonder whether anybody has noticed that the Indian conference was addressed by an Indian orator (all the natives of India seem to be orators) of the class known as the untouchables. The member of that class known as the untouchables, like all the other classes, had a grievance against the British system of Indian administration. That grievance was that during the long period of British administration nothing had been done to improve the position of the untouchables. The Indians who were untouchable for many years, probably for thousands of years, were untouchable still.

We know nothing at first hand about the ancient and modern social system of India, but from what we have read about that system we have learned that the native untouchable is lower in the caste scale than the beasts that perish. If a Brahmin of the most exalted caste, or an ordinary Hindu of any of the many intermediate castes, permits himself to be touched by an untouchable, or even permits the shadow of an untouchable to fall upon him, he is permanently defiled, and can be cleansed only by undergoing some purifying process of a religious nature, such as bathing in the Ganges, or something of that kind.

Yet the untouchables of India are represented in the conference. We assume that there are many representatives of the degraded class at the conference, although there is no record of more than one of the class addressing the assembly. Does the caste system prevail in the conference, which, if it is successful, will make all Indians free and equal? Are the Indian ruling princes and potentates and common politicians all sitting cheek by jowl in the conference like emancipated men meeting as a common brotherhood, without regard to creed, caste, distinction or position? Or are the untouchables segregated in such a way that they cannot touch or their shadows fall upon their fellow democrats?

We are told that the conference will be a success and that India will be freed from British misrule and given a federal system of government; that there is to be a Federal Parliament and Provincial Legislatures, such as there are in all British dominions; that there is to be universal suffrage; that everybody is to be free and equal. Under that system, will the untouchables be touchable? Will they be eligible to sit in the Federal Parliament and in the Provincial Legislatures? Shall we live to read about untouchables sitting in Cabinets beside the princes who used to rule like autocrats and the poets who sang and harangued about the wrongs of India? Considering the internal conditions in India and the stuff which has been printed in foreign newspapers about the British administration of affairs there, we should think the British people would be delighted to "wash their hands of the whole business" and give the native Indians a chance to try what they can do with India. Indeed, considering the general and current criticism of the manner in which Britain has been executing her "mandates," we should think the British would welcome an excuse to withdraw from all foreign entanglements and devote all their talents and energies in attending to their own business.

HEAVEN

Sometimes I think that Heaven is not An ever-fair and joyous spot
 Where seraphim and cherubim
 Lift golden notes in tender hymn,
 A spot as radiant as day
 But, oh, so very far away!

I think sometimes, that Heaven,
 Rests close about a child's fair head,
 Or in the thoughts love joys to send Around the pathway of a friend.

Sometimes I feel Heaven is as near
 As the hand of one most dear,
 In which I gladly lay my own
 To go down ways unknown or known
 With no regret or questioning.
 So long as to that hand I cling,
 And Heaven, I am sure,
 Is in each soul whose thoughts are pure.

UNEMPLOYMENT INCREASES

LONDON, Nov. 25.—Britain's unemployed on November 17 totaled 2,285,967, representing an increase of 24,201 over the previous week and 1,012,456 over a year ago. It was officially announced today. The slight improvement in the situation noted a week ago is thus wiped out.

How B.C. Joined Canada

Story of Confederation as Told by The Colonist, Which Championed the Cause of Union

By NINA NAPIER, M.A.

PART XXIX

Mainland Towns Denounce Action of Legislature in Resisting Wishes of Colonists

THE mobilization of the unionist forces continued throughout the summer of 1868. On Vancouver Island, in spite of the fiery editorials of The British Colonist, criticizing the mismanagement and extravagance of the Government, there was a noticeable apathy towards the whole question. On the Mainland, however, the towns of New Westminster, Yale, Lytton, Clinton and Barkerville had all signified their desire and determination to have union without delay. In Victoria the issues might be confused, but Cariboo had but a single mind on the matter.

The first anniversary of the Dominion of Canada was celebrated enthusiastically on the Mainland. At Yale, on the first of July, all the batteries of the town fired a salute at morning, noon and sunset, and a grand dinner was held in the evening, at which many toasts of loyalty were drunk.

Up in Barkerville, that Dominion Day, an open-air meeting was held, which not only endorsed the stand taken by the miners more than a year before, but denounced the recent action of the Legislature delaying Confederation. Dr. Carrall moved a resolution, which was passed without a dissenting vote, to the effect that, in the opinion of the meeting, the conduct of the Government of British Columbia in opposing union with Canada was contrary to the policy of the Imperial Government and the declared wishes of the people.

The main object of the meeting was stated in the resolution moved by J. S. Thompson, later member for Cariboo in the Canadian Parliament, which proposed that, since the Government continued to resist the wishes of the colonists, they should adopt at once some organized and systematic method of obtaining admission to the Dominion.

Politically, said this speaker, British Columbia derived no advantages from its present position of a small portion of the British Colonial Empire, outside of the satisfaction of knowing it afforded "good pasturage for a number of stray sheep from the Colonial Office." The people were without a voice in the government of the colony, and they were expected to countenance the heavy expenditure and pay the exorbitant taxes without a murmur.

The people of Cariboo, the mainstay of the whole colony, were contributing, directly or indirectly, the greater portion of the taxes, yet how were they treated? asked the speaker. They were left entirely to their own resources. Only recently the Council had voted $5,000 for a trail from William Creek to Mosquito Gulch, yet a man could not go there without floundering to the knees through swamp and mud. Indeed, one could not go a dozen miles from Barkerville without fighting the way step by step through forests and swamps.

There was no doubt that feeling in the colony was strong for Confederation, said Mr. Thompson. Meetings in its favor had been held in every section, from Victoria to Cariboo. The entire press of the colony, though it might differ on other subjects, was unanimous in supporting union.

Acting on the proposal of H. E. Seelye, the meeting elected a committee of five, consisting of Dr. Carrall, Messrs. Seelye, McLaren, Barritt and Sparrow, who were authorized to form a Confederation League in Barkerville and take any other steps to further the cause of union.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist, of November 26, 1880.)

There will be a partial eclipse of the sun, visible at Victoria May 27, 1881; also a total eclipse of the moon, June 11, and a partial eclipse of the moon, December 5, both of which will be visible here.

The Portland Standard says there was never a time in the history of the place when so many idle people thronged the streets as now.

Last night the barometer stood at 30.25 and there was every appearance of a continuation of moderate weather. The thermometer indicated only one degree of frost.

The water supplied through the corporation mains is simply detestable. Boil it, filter it, mix it as you will, there is still the abominable taste of decaying vegetable matter present. There must be something wrong at the head of the works.

NATIONAL CAMP FOR BOY SCOUTS PLANNED

Island in Quebec Lake Filled With Fish Offered to Dominion Organisation

OTTAWA, Nov. 25.—A "Robinson Crusoe" island, set in a beautiful Laurentian lake, teeming with fish, with every facility for canoeing, bathing, trail blazing and all the pursuits dear to the heart of every boy, as a national camp for the Boy Scouts of Canada, was outlined by Noulton Cauchon, eminent town planner of Ottawa, at the annual meeting of the Boy Scouts' Association of Ottawa last night.

Situated in Quebec, sixty miles from the capital, is this "mysterious island," as Mr. Cauchon prefers to call it until such time as it has actually been handed over to the scouts. It lies in the middle of the limits of the James MacLaren Lumber Company, which, he said, is willing to surrender its right back to the Quebec Government on the condition that the Government hand it over to the Boy Scouts as their national and permanent camp home.

The island is two miles long by four-fifths of a mile wide, and over 1,000 acres in area. Two thousand boys could be housed on the island. Financial support is assured from friends at the back of the project.

LICHENS

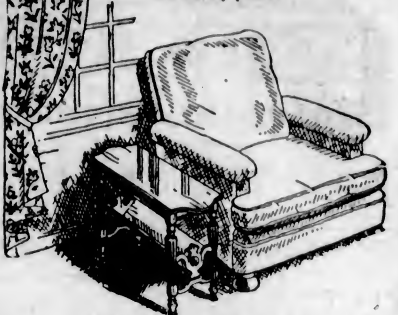

Life, that emerges clothed in varied form,
 Puts on, with us, a firm though humble dress;
 Our beauty may be veiled for half a year
 By drought, then reappear
 When clouds bring rain. For we endure distress
 While other plants enjoy the fervid sun.

Our part, though less important than of yore,
 Is played, as formerly, on barren rocks;
 We make through centuries of steady toil,
 Such modicum of soil
 As will permit of growths that can unlock Gigantic forces not by us revealed.

Oxford Honors J. P. Morgan by Degree of D.C.L.

LONDON, Nov. 25.—The London Times in an editorial termed bestowal today by Oxford University of an honorary degree of Doctor of Civil Law on J. P. Morgan, a "well won honor."

"A famous father's more famous son," the paper called the American financier. The editorial emphasized particularly Mr. Morgan's action in enabling Great Britain to retain the Bedford House of the House and Luttrell Pastier, and his financial aid during the war.

His liberality, in connection with the famous books, the paper termed an unusual element of magnanimity, since they would have been most welcome additions to the famous Morgan library in New York.

LAST EFFORT TO RAISE SUM WILL BE MADE

Armistice Period-Red Cross
$20,000 Drive Will Definitely Close Saturday

CHAIRMAN CONFIDENT OF MAKING OBJECTIVE

A last effort is being made by the Armistice Period-Red Cross committee to complete the task of raising a fund of $20,000. Victoria has responded in generous measure to the appeal: $18,651 having been subscribed to date.

Fred Landsberg, chairman of the committee, in an interview with The Colonist yesterday, expressed his appreciation for the support which the public has given, but declines to give up hope of reaching the objective by Saturday, when the campaign will definitely close.

"We are so close to our objective," he said, "that I cannot believe we shall fail to collect the full amount. Many citizens have given with great liberality, but there are hundreds who have not yet done their share. It is only necessary for them to come forward now and give small sums, which they will never miss, to bring the fund up to its objective. If they realized what a lot their little means, and how much want and suffering could be prevented with the $1,349 still required, I am sure they would hesitate no longer, but contribute at once."

Donations should be sent to the honorary treasurer, R. F. Taylor, Canadian Red Cross Office, 317 Belmont House.

OHIO BANK ROBBED; BANDITS GET $5,000

Numerous Townsfolk of Gratiot Threatened by Six Holdup Men—All Wires Cut

HAMILTON, Ohio, Nov. 25.—Six robbers threatened numerous townsfolk of Gratiot, near here, early today, and cut all communication wires into the village to prevent interference as they exploded six charges of dynamite to break the safe of the Gratiot State Bank. They escaped with $5,000.

During the robbery, three robbers stood outside the bank and shouted to villagers who, aroused by the explosions, had leaned out of windows, to "get back in there or we'll blow your heads off."

The robbers found threats were sufficient, and fired no shots.

Court of Appeal Cancels Award in Ross Estate Case

VANCOUVER, Nov. 25.—By a unanimous judgment the Court of Appeal reversed a Supreme Court judgment of Mr. Justice W. A. MacDonald, who had awarded Mrs. Isabella McCallum, Davis Street, damages against Toronto General Trusts Corporation.

Mrs. McCallum, wife of William C. McCallum, obtained a judgment from the trial judge against the trust company for alleged mismanagement of the estate of her first husband, Thomas Ross, who died on April 9, 1925. Damages, which were not determined, were allowed by Mr. Justice MacDonald on the further ground that the defendant, as executor of Ross' estate, failed to dispose of his business, consisting principally of the Ross Piano House, within a year of the death. The business was carried on by a limited liability company, which was either owned or controlled by Mrs. McCallum, and the company became bankrupt in August, 1928.

Five years ago, when Ross' will was probated, the net valuation of the estate was $13,252, which included $109,870 for Ross Piano House. After the latter went bankrupt, creditors received eighty-five cents on the dollar.

Mrs. McCallum, sole beneficiary under Ross' will, received nothing from his estate. She claimed $125,000 damages.

BULK MARKETING WAS AID IN APPLE SALES

Carloads of B.C. Apples Were Shipped Into Winnipeg Market This Fall

While normally bulk marketing of fruit is discouraged, as tending to lower the quality and standard of the product shipped, bulk sales of the British Columbia apples on the Prairies this year aided materially in moving the fruit. It is stated by J. W. Dilworth, a representative of the Interior Tree Fruit Committee of Direction, in the city yesterday to confer with the markets branch of the Department of Agriculture.

Mr. Dilworth was stationed in Winnipeg for the last five months and had a close insight into the conditions under which the British Columbia product was marketed. Bulk shipments of apples from this province to the extent of 160 carloads were shipped into Winnipeg alone, he states, and made large quantities of the fruit available to the public.

This year Ontario fruit shipments westward into Manitoba showed noticeable improvement in quality and pack, and some early varieties of apples produced competition with the British Columbia product to a limited extent.

The quality of the fruit from this province, states Mr. Dilworth, was superior throughout, and only the lowered purchasing power, resulting from general conditions, reacted against the usual volume of marketing done by growers in the West.

BOOK VALUES ARE HARD TO ARRIVE AT

Miss Clay Gives Interesting Facts to Court on Life of Popular Novels

In the Supreme Court yesterday, in the trial of the actions against the E. & N. Railway Company for damages arising out of the fire at Shawanigan Lake early last Summer, the claim of the Shawanigan Public Library came up. The claim is for the value of 1,500 books, which the library board places at some $1,300. Early in the proceedings J. E. McMullen for the company expressed a readiness to agree upon $1,000 as the value of the library.

Mr. Justice W. A. MacDonald, who is hearing the case, said that this was a matter for counsel to agree upon between themselves. He did not wish to influence them in any way.

Considerable discussion arose as to the relative worth of books in a library and the value to be placed upon them, not being new books.

THANKED FOR HELP

Miss Margaret Clay, librarian of the Victoria Public Library, was called upon to give expert evidence in the matter, and as she left the witness stand was thanked by His Lordship for the assistance she rendered to the court.

With reference to the novels of the day and the value to attach to them, which was a disputed point between opposing counsel, Miss Clay said that taking 100 novels which were among the most popular ten years ago, a reference to the popularity of them today as represented in the demands at the library had shown that 25 per cent were practically out of fashion and the remaining 75 per cent were in constant demand still.

BOOKS WELL KEPT

A. H. Killam, of the Provincial Library, who had inspected the Shawanigan Lake library, praised the manner in which the books were kept. He said they were maintained in better shape than most of the libraries in the province. Similar praise was given by Miss Clay.

In order to take the evidence of one of the witnesses who will not be able to attend court here, the court agreed yesterday to make a trip to Shawanigan Lake at a time to suit the convenience of both sides.

DEATH OF YOUNG BOY FOUND ACCIDENTAL

Jury's Verdict That Bobby Duncan Came to His End by Misadventure

A verdict of accidental death was rendered by the coroner's jury which investigated the circumstances connected with the death of Bobby Duncan, who lost his life in the waters of the Inner Harbor on Sunday, November 2. The inquest was conducted by Dr. E. C. Hart, coroner, yesterday at McCalls Funeral Parlors, following the finding of the body the day before. There was nothing new added to the information respecting the accident except the scant facts that the body had come to the surface and been recovered.

P. C. Vivian, who had first seen the body, testified to finding it in the water of the harbor about ten feet from the inner corner of the C.P.R. wharf. He had called the Chief of Police and aided in recovering the body.

Robert Luxton, grandfather of the boy who lost his life, identified the body as that of his grandson. The boy was fourteen years of age, he said, and was in the habit of using boats. He could swim.

Victor Cooper, twelve years of age, who was in the boat with Bobby Duncan at the time of the accident, related the circumstances connected with the drowning. They had landed the brother of the deceased near Hospital Point and had nearly reached the Island Tug & Barge Company wharf, coming back, when the accident occurred.

Witness said that he was in the bow of the boat while his companion was in the stern. As they passed a scow there, the Princess Elizabeth was backing out. The boat was caught in the wash of the steamer and went down stern first. Bobby Duncan carried for help but was quickly carried beneath the scow. Witness, being in the bow of the boat, was shot upwards and succeeded in grasping a spar from the scow, where he held until help came from the Martha Poes, which was near by.

NEW FLIGHT JOINS VICTORIA MODEL AIRCRAFT LEAGUE

Prospects for a successful season for the Victoria Model Aircraft League are commencing to loom up with the recent addition of a new flight and one about to be formed.

Last Saturday, under Flight-Commander James Haggart, the Captain Errol Boyd flight was formed and at the present time has ten members. Other officers of this addition are Flight-Lieutenant E. Jones and Recording Officer George Wellburn.

In the Oak Bay district Dick Robins and Fred Pierce have been busy organizing a flight to join the league. The boys have obtained permission from the Oak Bay School Board to use the old Oak Bay High School gymnasium for a flying field for their craft. An appeal is being made to all the schools of the district for membership, and within the

IS FOUND IN NORTH

CORNOVA, Alaska, Nov. 25.—Reports received from Valdez today said a lizard-like creature, with fur in perfect condition, had been found on Glacier Island, near here.

The strange creature, reported to be forty-two feet long, including a tail measuring sixteen feet, was believed to have been preserved since prehistoric times by being encased in ice in the upper reaches of the Columbia Glacier. The ice was believed to have wormed its way gradually to the sea. The head was reported to be six feet long and the body twenty feet in length.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., Nov. 25.—Police today arrested ten Communists after sixty demonstrators who wished to send a deputation to the Premier with a memorial on unemployment had created a disturbance.

The demonstrators attempted to march to Parliament House, where the New South Wales Parliament formally opened today. The police had to use their clubs to subdue the crowd, part of which attacked them.

Lady's Shoe
Betrays Robber

The lady's shoe with whitened finger print that finally convicted a father.

The finger print, on the shoe found by the police.

A Father Saved

On the morning of January 22, 1929, a store was robbed. The only clue was a finger-print left on a lady's patent leather shoe. It had been poked up and dropped. The police had the finger print whitened and photographed, then retained the shoe and photograph for evidence. Two months later three men were arrested on another robbery—a father and two sons. Finger prints were taken, and one corresponded with the prints on the shoe. As a result, the two sons were convicted of the former robbery and the father was exonerated. All because of the clear record written by a thumb-print on a shoe.

Your Danger Dirt

This is told to indicate how you leave finger-prints on everything you touch. And these prints are germ-laden. Life Extension Institute lute 27 diseases which are conveyed in these ways to the mouth.

Colds are among them. One uses a hand to stop a sneeze or a cough. Cold germs are blown upon it. Then everything touched by that hand is contaminated.

Butturing your bread, eating candy or fruit—every touch leaves that germ imprint if you fail to clean the hands. Not with ordinary soap, but with Lifebuoy. That contains a germicide. And tests show that no active germs exist after you apply it.

Wash hands often—with Lifebuoy—many times a day. Never touch anything which enters the mouth until Lifebuoy makes hands safe.

And Lifebuoy, based on two palm oils, is also an exquisite soap. No soap was ever more luxurious, none better for the skin. The scent of safety is there but disappears quickly after every use.

The careful people, in every country of the world, are using Lifebuoy for this reason. No other soap in existence so combines luxury and safety.

First Cake FREE

We supply the first cake of Lifebuoy—one only to a family—with our compliments for test. Just send your name and address, and learn how much this soap can do. Not merely a soap of palm oil, but an antiseptic soap. You will never use anything else for toilet or bath when you know it. Cut out this reminder so you won't forget. Clip it now.

CLUBMEN HEAR
TALK ON INDIAMajor Kirkpatrick-Crockett
Delivers Interesting Address at Round Table

DEBATERS ENTERTAINED

John Mitchell and H. T. Lloyd, visiting British debaters, were guests at last night's dinner of the Round Table Club, held in a private dining-room of the Empress Hotel.

The speaker last night was Major M. Kirkpatrick-Crockett, who spoke upon conditions in India at the present time.

A particularly interesting point brought out by Major Kirkpatrick-Crockett was the value of the Sikhs in dealing with internal disturbances. It was necessary, he explained, to understand that one of the chief causes of unrest was the religious difference existing between the Hindus, who worshipped a plurality of gods, and the Mahomedans, who believed in one deity.

The word "Sikh" meant "learner" or "disciple," and the men of this race were entirely neutral in their religious convictions, believing in one god for the entire universe.

ENORMOUS POPULATION

The regular strength of the army in India, said the speaker, was about 200,000 officers and men, who had to deal with a land teeming with unrest and containing some 320,000,000 people, or about two and a half times the population of the United States.

Of this population about 216,000,000 were Hindus, 60,000,000 Mahomedans, 11,000,000 Buddhists and between two and six millions converted to Christianity.

It was in the case of the Hindus that the "caste system" was most closely observed, and if a man had been born from low caste parents he was "untouchable" no matter what his scholastic or monetary attainments were.

NUMEROUS CASTES

There were no fewer than 2,300 different castes in India, continued the speaker. Centuries ago the Brahmins had established a sort of caste monopoly as priests of the religion.

It was, nevertheless, a significant fact that, despite the tremendous superiority of the Hindus, Mahomedanism was on the increase at the present time.

Speaking of the forces maintained by Indian states, Major Kirkpatrick-Crockett pointed out that these were only a part of the British army in India, which was at the disposal of the Government.

The native, he added, loved, feared and respected the British "Tommy" for the reason that the latter was unaffected by religion or caste distinctions.

WHOLESALESAVERS HAVING BUSY IMPORTING WEEK

Numerous Shipments of Fruit and Vegetables Arrive Throughout Week

Wholesalers have had a busy week thus far, having been receiving numerous shipments from the South and Japan. A big shipment of California navel oranges arrived yesterday, and these are selling well to the retailers. The wholesale price on this fruit is down 40 per cent as compared with the price a month ago. Wholesalers men predict that within the near future the public will be able to purchase them in half case lots. A big shipment of Japanese oranges is due to arrive here this week-end; there will be no change in their price. A car lot of Australian oranges also was received last week-end by local wholesalers here.

Other shipments that arrived yesterday included Panama coconuts and California walnuts. More California raisins are expected in today, while consignments of onions and Kamloops potatoes will be here tomorrow afternoon.

Last Monday some excellent grapefruit arrived from the Imperial Valley in California. Wholesalers announce these as some of the finest that have made an appearance here for some time; they are the seedless type and very sweet and are every bit as good as the Florida product.

NURSES' TEN-HOUR DAY IS SHOWING BENEFITS

Recognition of the benefits which have accrued from the coming into effect of the ten-hour day for nurses was made at the meeting of the private duty section of the Graduate Nurses' Association, held at the Y.M.C.A. last night. Mrs. C. H. decided to prepare a paper for the annual meeting of the Graduate Nurses' Association to be held in Vancouver in January, the subject to be "What the Ten-Hour Day Duty Means to the Nurse." The new regulation went into effect in October, and, according to several of those present at last night's meeting, has already proved a great boon to the nurse, while, at the same time, being generally approved by the public.

Miss H. O'Brien presided last night, and Miss E. Macfarlane read a paper on "Dietetics for Diabetics." It was decided that the meeting on the last Tuesday in January would take the form of a social, with cards, musical programme and refreshments.

Minister Inducted

Knox Presbyterian Church was filled to capacity last evening for the induction of the new minister, Rev. John Patterson. Rev. J. McCurk, Rev. A. O. Thomson and Rev. R. Rollo were on the platform. The service began with the singing of the hymn "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow," followed by prayer and psalm. Mr. McCurk, Rev. R. Rollo and Rev. A. O. Thomson addressed the gathering during the service. Following the induction by Rev. J. McCurk, moderator of the Victoria Presbytery, a closing hymn was sung, and the ministers were guests at supper in the church classroom. Mrs. Harry Wiltshire, Mrs. W. Harris and Mrs. W. Wilson were in charge of refreshments.

City & District

Returning to Victoria—D. C. Coleman, vice-president of western lines, Canadian Pacific Railway, is returning to Victoria this morning from Vancouver and will spend the day in the city.

School Board to Meet—A meeting of the Victoria School Board was planned for tonight at the board room in the City Hall. The meeting is called for the purpose of receiving committee reports and disposing of November business.

Election Notices Posted—Flaming red posters calling attention of Victoria ratepayers of the municipal nominations and elections to be held next month were posted in front of the City Hall and in other public places yesterday. Nominations take place between 12 and 2 o'clock, December 4, and polling, December 11. Polling on by-laws will be held at the City Hall and at the municipal offices at the City Market Building.

Complete Business—William Harrison, Kamloops, and A. B. Smith, Cranbrook, members of the British Columbia advisory board of farmers' institutes, left yesterday for their homes, after the completion of business in connection with matters delegated to them from the recent sittings of the board here, and which included a number of issues that were taken up with various Government departments.

Advocate Factories—Establishment on Vancouver Island of factories to make automobiles, aeroplanes, rayon silk goods, perfume, gloves, hosiery and canned goods by British capital is suggested in a memorandum of the Vancouver Island Women's Unemployment Association. The association also suggested legislative enactments to prohibit employment of married women, to provide higher minimum wages and a moratorium for tax and interest charges where unemployment can be shown.

BISHOP MAY APPEAL TO HEAD OF CHURCH
TO REBUKE CURATE

BIRMINGHAM, Nov. 25.—"If you come to St. Gregory's I shall have no alternative but to appeal to the Archbishop of Canterbury, as head of the Church of England, to publicly rebuke you and order you to depart."

This is the final sentence in a letter from Rt. Rev. Ernest Barnes, Bishop of Birmingham, to Rev. E. L. Pike, to whom Bishop Barnes refused a licence as curate of St. Gregory's Church.

The vicar of St. Gregory's, Rev. A. C. Brown, is one of the group of clergy who decline to follow the bishop's instructions to discontinue public reservation of the sacrament and the special services connected with this. Father Pike proposes to take up the curacy under Rev. Mr. Brown, next January.

While admitting the curate's position will be irregular, the vicar declares he feels justified in being irregular "in a good cause."

BIG SUM PROVIDED FOR HIGHWAY WORK

OTTAWA, Nov. 25.—Construction of bridges and highways and the improvement of level crossings at a total cost of $1,706,000 is provided for in the list of unemployment relief works approved today by Hon. G. D. Robertson, Minister of Labor.

The largest single work is bridge over the Gatineau River at Hull, the cost of which is to be $300,000. The works are to be undertaken by municipalities which will receive contributions from the Provincial Government and from the Dominion Government out of the $200,000 unemployment relief fund.

DO YOU SUFFER FROM CONSTIPATION?

Countless remedies are advertised for constipation. Many relieve for the moment but they are habit forming and may be continued. Others contain calomel and dangerous mineral drugs, which remain in the system, settle in the joints and cause disease. The intestines and bowels are not cleansed and the system is left in a state of chronic constipation. A purely vegetable laxative such as Carter's Little Liver Pills, gently touches the liver, bile starts to flow, the bowels move gently, the intestines are thoroughly cleansed and constipation poisons pass away. Just Roamin' Around

BY TWO ROVERS

Honi soit qui mal y pense! Although we, Rover and I, had not been invited to Government House since we arrived in Victoria, we deliberately lit out for Rockland Avenue the other day.

There was no roamin' around about it; we just set our faces for Fort Street, some seven or so blocks, then turned down the leafy lane and garden-walled Pemberton Road, which lead us to one of those stately gateways that stand ever ajar and that are temptingly open in their welcome offered, frankly inviting one (or two) into a floral paradise.

We fell for it at once, and, as there was no one in sight, which undoubtedly was all the better for all we were about to do.

There was no roamin' around about it; we just set our faces for Fort Street, some seven or so blocks, then turned down the leafy lane and garden-walled Pemberton Road, which lead us to one of those stately gateways that stand ever ajar and that are temptingly open in their welcome offered, frankly inviting one (or two) into a floral paradise.

It is all a dream of loveliness, orderliness; a maze of Autumnal beauty; a labyrinth of exquisite flowers and trees and shrubs; not a weed to invite one to stoop and say: "Out you go!" not a leaf out of place, or where it did not belong, for even leaves strewn around, the ground is the right place for them at this time of the year.

How different, how much more entrancing most those gardens be on a high day and a holiday, when lovely ladies, and elegantly-groomed men parade and shake hands with the Lieutenant-Governor and his niece, and saunter about and talk, maybe flirt, and drink tea and eat ices, etc. (the "et cetera" especially interests Rover), but not for Rover and me! Although, we must say that the kaleidoscopic effect of the before mentioned lovely ladies in their brilliant gowns, which rival the hues of the flowers themselves must be very eye-satisfying. We were so delighted with the "glory of the garden" that we find it almost impossible to make any kick at all.

Rover said, "How about it, Boes?" "Fine!" said I, "Excellent! Superb! but, it lacks one thing. We should, quite accidentally, of course, be discovered here, run into His Honor and Miss Sweet Chatslain to give us a chance to say "How do!" but, rotten luck, nothing happened; and we roamed back to town, both hoping Someone, whoever has "the say," insists that five years is not long enough, and so makes it ten.

Women's Club Executives Are Guests at Tea

As the guests of Mrs. Herbert J. Pendray at her beautiful home on The Lagoon, Esquimalt, the Women's Canadian Club executives, past and present, met yesterday afternoon for one of the rare occasions of purely social and recreational character which they permit themselves in the course of the year. The time passed all too quickly, the enchanting views from the windows, the musical programme, the aviary and aquarium, and afternoon tea providing a varied and delightful entertainment, and warm appreciation of the hospitality shown was expressed in the eloquent little speeches of thanks made by the president, Mrs. P. B. Scurrah, and Mrs. W. H. Oee just before the gathering dispersed.

Cars left the city shortly before 3 o'clock, and Mrs. Pendray welcomed the guests as they arrived after the pleasant drive. The musical programme, which preceded tea, was of delightfully impromptu character, comprising two songs each by Mrs. H. Johns, Mrs. D. B. McConnan and Mrs. Arthur Dowell, who were skilfully accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Paul Green. Mrs. Johns' numbers were Rachmaninov's "In the Silent Night" and Cyril Scott's "Lullaby"; Mrs. McConnan's, "Thy Beaming Eyes" (Macdowell) and "Little Dutch Garden" (Colburn), and Mrs. Dowell's, "Il Bacio" (Arditi) and "Homing" (Del Riego). The president later made graceful acknowledgment of the pleasure given by the artists.

Mrs. Scurrah and Mrs. C. Spofford presided at the tea table, which was centred with a dainty arrangement of single pink chrysanthemums. Among the invited guests were four past presidents, Mrs. J. C. F. Hyndman, Mrs. H. P. Hodges, Miss Agnew and Mrs. Peter MacNaughton; also Mrs. H. P. Crowe, Mrs. R. R. Taylor, Mrs. W. H. Oee, Mrs. E. S. Farr, Mrs. P. E. Corby, Mrs. S. P. Tolmie, Mrs. Angus Campbell, Mrs. D. E. Campbell, Mrs. E. C. Hart, Mrs. J. S. Plaskett, Mrs. J. H. Fletcher, Mrs. R. W. Mayhew, Mrs. C. W. Bradshaw, Mrs. F. Calvert, Miss Riddell, Mrs. Paul Green and Mrs. R. W. Perry, and the present officers and executives.

CHINESE TO BE SENT TO TRIAL

Magistrate Jay Hears Evidence of Attempt to Murder—Committal Delayed

SHOOTING ON DOUGLAS

Charged with intent to murder Sue Chow Chee, sawmill worker, on the night of November 7, by firing at him with a revolver, Chan Yow, secretary of the Chinese Nationalist League of British Columbia, and his friend, Lee Yow Him, were informally committed for trial by Magistrate George Jay following their preliminary hearing in police court yesterday morning.

Formal commitment was reserved to allow Frank Higgins, K.C., counsel for the defendants, to consider the submission of evidence on behalf of the two prisoners and an enlargement of the case was granted this morning at 10 o'clock.

"There is no doubt the Crown has established a case, but I will give counsel for the defence time for consideration of evidence," the magistrate stated.

EVIDENCE OF SHOOTING

The charge against the two young Chinese with intent to murder, followed a disturbance on Douglas Street, near Johnson, between 7 and 8 o'clock on the night of November 7, during which Chan Yow, 21, is alleged to have drawn a revolver from his pocket and fired one shot in the direction of Sue Chow Chee. The bullet, witness stated, crashed through a shop window and was later found inside the shop. No one was hurt.

Alexander Lockley, contractor, 1388 Esquimalt Road, testified he saw the quarrel between the three men and saw Chan Yow move away from the other two towards the street railway tracks. He stated he saw Yow pull a gun from his pocket and fire it, pointing the muzzle in the direction of Chee. Witness later assisted the police, and it was he who took the revolver out of Yow's pocket and handed it to the constable.

ONE SHOUTED "KILL HIM"

Chee, the man who alleges he was fired at, said in his evidence that he heard Lee Yow Him, friend of Yow, shout "Take the gun from him!" Chee testified that he knew both the men and had no trouble with either of them prior to the alleged shooting. He did admit, however, he had previously borrowed $5 from Yow, but had paid it back. He denied he had made attempts, through other Chinese, to get $100 from Yow. He stated that he had ever taken up fighting lessons and the only reason he could give to Mr. Higgins for the trouble was "rambling debts, I guess." Chee is a heavily built Chinese and Yow considerably smaller.

HAD ASKED PROTECTION

Chief of Police John Fry, in giving evidence for the Crown, stated he had visited Yow's room and there found eight live .38-calibre cartridges, similar to those found in the chamber of the revolver alleged to have been used by Yow on the night of the trouble with Chee. He also stated that on November 3 Yow had asked him for protection because he "feared trouble with some other Chinese." The chief posted instructions to constables accordingly. Constable Belcher, who arrested the pair, gave evidence of taking charge of the revolver which, in examination, contained four live cartridges and one spent shell in the chamber. They were of .38 calibre. The constable also identified the revolver.

Other witnesses called by Crown Prosecutor C. L. Harrison were Philip Wade, Louis Skima, John Polich and Gordon Laird, and all were bound over in the sum of $500 to appear at the trial if wanted.

Mr. Higgins, counsel for the defendants, maintained that the Crown had failed to establish the prima facie case in that the evidence had not shown any intent on the part of the accused to murder Chee. Mr. Harrison, however, contended that a case had been made out, and asked for committal on the evidence. Mr. Higgins asked for time to consider putting in evidence, which was granted. The magistrate agreed a case had been established, but consented to an enlargement until 10 o'clock this morning. The statutory warning was given to both defendants.

W. C. Moreby, K.C., was present in court in the interests of Chee.

Two women were discussing, at the Colony Club, the sad case of a financier who had failed.

"Poor George!" said the first woman. Did he accept his failure like a man?"

"Exactly like a man," said the second woman. "He blamed it on his wife's extravagance."

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

I often wish the health officers of our various towns and cities would get their newspapers to publish certain facts about a week or ten days before they ask for their annual appropriation of money for health work.

Why?

Because they could show that it is because they have been so able to control the acute diseases of children—scarlet fever, diphtheria, meningitis and others—that the death rate has been reduced 50 per cent within a space of fifteen years.

Added to this is the control in adults of typhoid fever, another acute ailment.

But what about chronic ailments? Unfortunately they are on the increase.

During the same fifteen-year period deaths from chronic ailments increased 20 per cent, and that of course, means the loss of many useful lives to the world.

How could many of these lives be saved?

Simply by the health officer having enough money to spread the knowledge of good health habits in the community.

One lesson alone would save many lives, and that is, that just as watching the food and intestinal movements of babies and children was the means of saving thousands of these young lives, so also would the watching of the food intake and intestinal movements in adults save adult lives.

Man was made to work or exercise, and was given a long small intestine to absorb all kinds of foods, and a large intestine able to hold a fair amount of waste, which was meant to be moved along without delay. In fact the large intestine has an extra set of muscles running lengthways on it, whose purpose is to draw a portion of the intestine back behind waste matter, and thus let the circular fibres squeeze it along. Thus Nature did her best for us.

It is the delay of waste matter in this long intestine that is responsible for a large percentage of the "chronic" ailments that afflict mankind.

Exercise will help to move the waste along, but exercise simply means "work." To many individuals, if the health officer will simply advise the people to eat a little bulky food every day—cabbage, carrots, lettuce, fruit, cereals, nuts, and so forth—any one of these at least once a day—he would be doing so much to the benefit of adults that he has done for children.

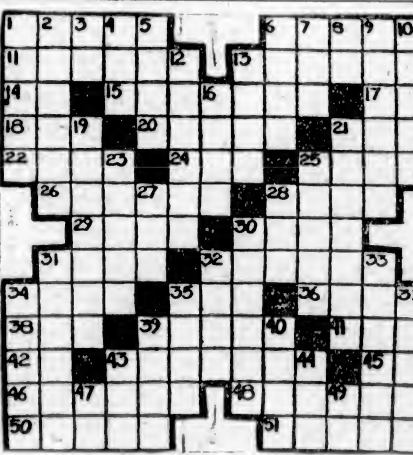

And adult lives are worth saving.

REMAND TAKEN IN
BUNCO GAME CASE

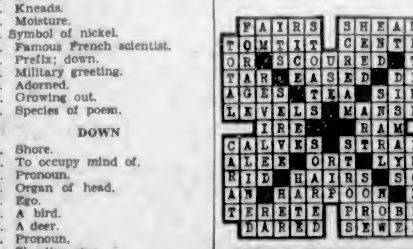

John B. Blackman, Arthur Smith and Olive McKenzie, the trio arrested by Sergeant Bob Owens, of the British Columbia Provincial Police, on Sunday night, while attempting flight to Vancouver, appeared in Police Court this morning, charged with attempting to steal $8,765.33 from Reginald Pearce by what is known to police as "the Bunco game." They were remanded for one week, application for bail to be made later.

It is alleged in the charge against the trio that they attempted to persuade Reginald Pearce, an elderly man, to part with the large sum of money in the promise of greater returns. The confidence of Pearce was engineered by what is known as the "purse trick." It is claimed. No evidence had yet been taken in connection with the charge. Vancouver counsel has been retained by the three prisoners.

LOWLY QUAKERS STOP LEAF'S WINNING STREAK

Jokers Will Battle Saanich Thistles in Feature Soccer Game

Victory on Saturday for Former Club Will Oust Esquimalt From First Division Leadership—Wests to Battle City

Jokers, second berth occupants of the Victoria and District Football League, have a chance to oust the idle leaders, Esquimalt, on Saturday, when they oppose the Saanich Thistles at the Royal Athletic Park in the day's soccer feature. The other First Division match will see Victoria City opposing the cellar-occupying Victoria West eleven at Beacon Hill. Both matches will start at 2:45 o'clock.

The spotlight in local soccerdom will be focused on the Jokers' battle at the Royal Athletic Park. At present the Jokers are a lone point behind Esquimalt, undefeated leaders. Victory on Saturday will place them in first berth and mean the dropping to second place of the dockers, who have been resting comfortably in the coveted position practically all season.

At Beacon Hill Dr. Poyntz' green-shirts will be out gunning for their first victory of the season. In order to do this they must dispose of the Victoria City eleven. The latter club has a two-point advantage over the Wests, but in order to evade the cellar position must come through with a victory on Saturday.

The curtain raiser will see the Sons of Canada, men's "B" cagers, battling the flashy West Road aggregation, while the second tussle will bring together Hustlers and K. of P. intermediates. On the other hand, the final game on the program will see the Y.M.C.A. and C.P.S. men's "A" squads battling in the opening game for the second half of the schedule. Peden Bros. annexed the honors in the first half, and by so doing gained the right to meet the winners of the second half in the play-off at the end of the league schedule.

SONS NEED WIN
The Sons-West Road game will see the Canadians fighting hard for victory in order to jump into a tie with the Road squad in quest of the first-half honors. On the other hand, a win for the suburban cagers will give them the championship.

K. of P. intermediates are at present tied with High School in first place in their division, and a win tonight will put them out in front and practically clinch the first-half honors.

Allan LeMarquand will referee all games.

Three Touchdowns on Passes in Four Minutes—With but four minutes left to play, when Bend and Seaside were playing in the finals for the State Football Championship of Oregon in 1925, a pass from Loomis to O'Brien resulted in a touchdown. After the kick-off Loomis brought the ball to Bend's 40-yard-line, and on the next play passed to O'Brien for another touchdown. Seaside kicked off again and Loomis ran the ball down to Bend's 40-yard-line a second time, and for the third time Loomis passed to O'Brien for a third touchdown. It was Bend's game, 19-0.

LEO LOMSKI LOSES CALL TO LENHART

Great Rally of Spokane Boy in Final Round Gains Him Win in 16-Round Mix

PORTLAND, Nov. 25.—Fred Lenhart, 179, Spokane, won a ten-round decision over Leo Lomski, 179, Aberdeen, in a main event fight here tonight. This was Lenhart's first victory over Lomski. Twice before this year they fought a draw.

C. of C. Members Invited to Show Golfing Prowess

The members of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce have been invited to take part in a driving tournament Saturday afternoon, at the Fairway golf driving course. This is the first of a series of similar contests planned by Don Cameron, manager of the course, which is located at the corner of Douglas Street and Gairland Road. F. W. Francis, jeweler, is awarding a sterling silver shield to the winner of each division of the tournament.

The first shield will go to the member of the Chamber of Commerce who can make the longest drive, each contestant being allowed three balls. The second shield will be awarded to the member who can lay a golf ball closest to a flag located about 100 yards down the fairway. No admission or entry fee will be charged, and it is expected that a large percentage of the membership will turn out for the affair.

Clarence G. Ymer, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and Harold Palmer, secretary, will act as judges of the events.

BUMPER CROWD SEES OPENING HOCKEY GAMES

Rosebuds and McDonald-Mann Win Initial Fixtures—Many Turned Away

NEW SEATS WILL BE BUILT IMMEDIATELY

Roller hockey came into its own last night at the Gray Line rink, when a packed house witnessed the lifting of the curtain on the Senior and Intermediate Roller Hockey Leagues for the 1930-31 season. While a packed house had a glimpse of their favorite pastime, others were turned away, and Manager C. C. Johnston announced last night, following the games, that the installation of an additional 250 seats would commence immediately.

With Musgrave's flashy right, netting five goals, Rosebuds took the opening game, an intermediate league fixture, from the Cougars, by a 5-4 score. Murray, with three goals, and Sage with one, were the other Cougar scorers. O'Neil, Hines, Barnwell, and Scouler each scored for the losers.

EASY VICTORY
With Woods, Drysdale and Simpson each sagging the rigging for four goals, McDonald-Mann had little difficulty in taking the senior fixture from the Rovers by a 14-4 count. Barnwell added the other two markers for the winners. Taylor, Lambuck, Erb and Bayley counted for the losers.

The teams:
McDonald-Mann—Dunc, DeBiacque, Woods, Drysdale, Simpson, Doherty, Barnwell and Boden.
Rovers—Crab, Taylor, Lambuck, Erb, Dyer, Bayley and Tyson.

The Listening Post

By WALTER TRUMBULL
(Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance)

Golf is a very simple little game: You tee a little ball. And then proceed to sock the same ball in the grassy tall. And, if you find it, as you may, With temper most serene, You take a niblick out, to play Six more shots to the green.

In spite of the fact that spectators see time pass but once, history runs on a circular track. As one champion grows dim in the west, another enters through the gates of the morning. Some day there probably will be another tournament golfer as skilful and courageous as Bobby Jones, but by that time most of us will be too feeble to follow him around the links.

But we will have one advantage over those youngsters who come after us: we have seen Jones at his best. To them he will be only a tradition. They must take our word for it. And the chances are that we will tell them plenty, whether they listen or not.

It certainly isn't fun to grow old; but somehow we wouldn't have wished to miss seeing at their peak Christy Mathewson, Hans Wagner, Ty Cobb, Babe Ruth, Stanley Ketchell, Jack Dempsey, Gene Tunney, Bill Tilden, Devereaux Milburn and Bobby Jones.

The world advances. There may be future players strong and skilful past anything we know, but they will be no better sportsmen than some whom we have known. They can't breed any better sportsmen than such players of the game as Devereaux Milburn, Francis Ouimet or Bobby Jones.

They say youth looks to the future; age to the past. We must be getting ancient, because we wouldn't fret much about the fighters on the way. If we could see the Dempsey of Toledo climb into the ring again, the exits would be blocked with heavyweights going in with two steel fists ready to punch, angling up to an opponent and giving a good imitation of a riveting machine; taking what they had, and hitting them so that they stayed hit. If you have another Dempsey, time, bring him on.

Castles in Spain! They rose splendid and glimmering. Straight to the sunline and blue of the skies; Turrets and minarets shining and shimmering.

How close they looked, to our youth's eager eyes! Now we are older, and life, in unraveling. Taught, we reach our visions. Yet, in the twilight, we find ourselves traveling. Hopefully still toward those castles in Spain.

A dub could get around a golf course faster, if he didn't take so much time to kick his shots to his caddy.

Winter always arrives just as the average golfer is certain he has reached the point of improving his game.

No winner ever has quite as much luck as he is credited with by the loser.

He never thought it fun to walk. The thing which suited him was just to grab a taxi.

A taxi, say. But he's not growing slim.

Some persons resemble the guy who kicks the ball from the 50-yard line, just before the game.

"Who is really the boss in your house?" inquired the friend.

"Well, of course, Maggie assumes command of the children, the servants, the dog, the cat, and the canary. But I can say pretty much what I please to the goldfish."

Injured Hand to Keep McLarnin on Shelf Long Time

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—An injured right hand probably will force Jimmy McLarnin out of action for the next four months. Jimmy plans to return to Vancouver and undergo treatment by a Canadian bone specialist. McLarnin's hand was injured in the second round of his recent bout with Billy Petrolle and at the end of the fight was swollen to twice its normal size.

BAYS WILL BE OUT TO CHECK SAILOR ELEVEN

Victory for Hudson's Bay Will Place Them Deadlocked With Navy

SAANICH UNITED TO MEET THE GARRISON

With the Hayward Cup schedule nearing completion and but two points separating the leading three clubs, today's matches will attract more than the usual attention. At Beacon Hill, the league-leading sailors will oppose the Hudson's Bay, while at the Royal Athletic Park, the Garrison, who last week humbled the Navy, will battle Saanich United. Both matches will start at 2:45 o'clock. Johnson will referee at Beacon Hill and McKay at Royal Athletic Park. The Navy-Hudson's Bay battle at Beacon Hill is expected to draw a large following. The Bays, two points behind the sailors, can go on a tie with the present leaders, with a victory today.

At the Royal Athletic Park, Captain Thackray, manager of the Garrison, will not start a strong squad in hopes of humbling Saanich United and keeping right on the heels of the sailors.

Hudson's Bay will line up as follows: Shrimpton, Gardiner, Tupper, Gull, Woodley, Oakman, McIlroy, Fish, Armstrong, Purdy and Newell.

Rugby Rules and Interpretations

LAW X—FUNCTIONS OF THE REFEREE

The referee is sole timekeeper and judge of fact. He is sole judge of law, subject to a right of appeal to the Rugby Union. He may, before arriving at a decision, consult the touch judges, or either of them, on any point of fact material to his functions, or with regard to time in the case of failure of his watch.

He may not consult with any one else, except with regard to time, and then only if the information supplied by the touch judges be insufficient.

He may allow extra time for delays. He has power to stop the game before time has expired if, in his opinion, the full time cannot be played.

In the case of his being unable to officiate during the full time of the game, he shall have power to appoint a substitute to take his place, failing an agreement by the captains of the respective sides. He cannot alter any decision when the game is in progress.

It rests with him to impose penalties for irregularities and to give all necessary directions within the field. He has power to decide if any part of a player's dress, including boots and projections thereon, are dangerous, and in that case to order such player to remove the same, and to allow him to take further part in the game until after such removal.

He is not entitled to contract out of the laws of the game by agreeing with both sides to vary, or not to recognize any law.

He must not allow anyone but the players on the field of play during a game except at his request. The referee must carry a whistle. The whistle, when blown, stops the game for the time being. The referee shall blow only to indicate: (a) A fair catch (even though he has blown for a knock-on or throw-forward).

(b) Player hurt (so soon after as the ball has become dead, and subject to the resumption of the game in not more than three minutes).

(c) Danger, when continuation of play would be dangerous.

(d) That the ball or player carrying it has touched him.

(e) Half-time or no-side, as soon as the ball has become dead, except as the result of a try.

(f) That the ball has gone into touch-in-goal.

(g) A breach of law, or irregularity of play, which the non-offending side gain an advantage.

(h) That he is awarding a penalty.

(i) Foul play or misconduct.

(j) That a stoppage is necessary for any other reason.

The referee shall not blow his whistle: (a) Simply because a player is tackled.

(b) When an irregularity occurs from which the non-offending side gains an advantage.

In case of any dispute relative to a try or a kick at goal where it is possible that an appeal may be made to the union, the referee should allow the kick at goal; so that if the union afterward support the appeal the goal points may be added if the kick was successful. Attention is drawn to clauses (b), (d), (m) and (n).

The game is not stopped simply because a player is hurt, unless he is in further danger from the play in his vicinity; otherwise the play continues until the ball is dead. Clauses (b) and (n) are those referring to the much-discussed advantage rule, which is perhaps the greatest test of a referee, but in order to simplify the interpretation it has been laid down that the opportunity for gaining an advantage is not sufficient; but there must be a distinct territorial gain. This often involves a delay on the part of the referee in blowing the whistle so that he may satisfy himself that there was no territorial advantage. The moral from this is always to play to the whistle.

Clause (m) presupposes that the player who is tackled will be according to the spirit of the game and put the ball down fairly, to be brought into play with the foot rather than incur the risk of a penalty kick.

Walter: "Mr. Smith has left his umbrella again. I do believe he would leave his head if it were loose."

Dinner (absent-mindedly): "I dare say you're right. I heard him say yesterday he was going to Switzerland for his lungs!"

MAY SUTTON BUNDY JOINS PRO RANKS

Veteran Net Star to Teach Game at Santa Barbara School for Girls

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25.—Terminating a glorious quarter century of amateur play, May Sutton Bundy, one-time national champion and twice British titleholder, has turned professional.

Interviewed following rumors she had deserted amateur ranks, Mrs. Bundy said she was teaching tennis at a Santa Barbara school for girls, aiding her sister, Florence Sutton.

"I love tennis and I hated to give up my amateur standing," the former May Sutton said, "but I feel that I have had my share of tournament competition and that in the future I can do the most good by passing on my knowledge of the game to beginners. In no sense did I turn professional for the monetary returns involved."

"My sister, Florence, has been a tennis instructor at Santa Barbara School for Girls for a number of years. Recently her health began to fail and about a month ago I decided to join her in her work—that her task might be somewhat lightened."

As one of the quartette of famous women players, Bundy won tennis fame first in 1905 when she won the national singles championships at the age of sixteen.

The following year she won the Wimbledon championships and repeated the next year.

BELL BOY'S VISION OF GREAT FORTUNE SLIGHTLY DIMMED

MONTREAL, Nov. 25.—Les Plaisances, thirty-seven-year-old bell boy of one of the leading Montreal hotels, does not expect $50,000 from his ticket of Glorious Devon in the Canadian Legion sweepstakes, as at first announced, but does anticipate anything up to $5,000. But he is not excited about it and is carrying on his work calmly and carefully as he did before the vision of potential wealth came to him in a cable from England.

Plaisance telephoned England and found that his ticket stood to bring anywhere from one to five thousand.

Other Men's Shoes

By MAY WYNNE

SYNOPSIS
Noel Paxton, a Socialist workman, and Ronald Hartford, Duke of Delectable, exchange positions in order to study social problems from each other's point of view.
Paxton becomes the Duke, and Hartford becomes the workman.
Each meets with undreamt-of embarrassments in his new sphere. In Delectable's case these are more amusing than serious.
When a factory fire, "Tilda Tossing," proposes to accept him as her "black."
There is, however, a serious side. As Hartford, who is a Socialist, and learns to appreciate the brave slaving able even in a slum. He also meets a Grenvane, the daughter of a disreputable man, who evidently has once been a Grenvane. Grenvane is trying to force Hartford to marry a man she dislikes.
"The Honorable Noel Hartford" finds that filling a duke's shoes is not the bed of roses he imagined. He is overwhelmed by the business and social burdens attached to the position, and turns for help and advice to Ruth Dryle, his attentive companion to Lady Helvetia Hartford, the duke's aunt. To add to his difficulties, Noel is wrongly accused of flirting with the duke's daughter, who is a Socialist.
Noel is carrying on a clandestine love affair with a stranger, and Noel is being made a scapegoat.

CHAPTER VII
The Duke of Delectable was no coward—nor had a drunken man any terrors for him. But he had seen the dread in Honor Grenvane's eyes as her father faced him, and knew it was truest chivalry to withdraw.

"I am sorry," he said, very quietly,
"if I can go. I have no thought of intruding. I can only say—I am sorry."

Argument with a drink-inflamed man was, he knew, as hopeless as an explanation. He hated going—but he went, because it would have made it harder for the girl if he had remained. He had seen her burning blush of shame, her eloquent entreaties, and he served her as she silently asked to be served.
The man, growing threats and curses, leaned back against the wall, his arms folded. A truculent bully by nature—without the outward appearance of one!

Contradiction as it seemed, Del-court guessed that by birth the fellow was a gentleman. Gentleman—and madman in the clutches of demon drink. It was not Del-court's work to moralize—but he returned to his lodging—determined to call at the house in Ivy Court again—and again—until he could find some means of helping a girl whose lot was tragic.

Mrs. Clanders was out—but her John was at home. He was inviting him to a smoke and half pint of bitter. The Duke was not in a convivial frame, but he was a bad home at excuses. So he went.
John Clanders was better known as Old Swipes in the neighborhood. A man who only spoke in patches and remained dumb in the society of his wife. Peg was the better man of the two, and he knew it! She had a trick of terrorizing her "old un" which spoke volumes for her masterful genius. He was obedient as a baby whilst Peg's eye was on him. Once let that basilisk gaze be withdrawn and Old Swipes was round the corner in his own special seat in the Margot. He was an orator there, a humorist, a character. At home—he would bitterly complain he was a slave. Once only once—it was a legend of the street—Old Swipes had broken out —and broken loose. He had stood up to his old woman and knocked her flat. Then he had gone and drank half his week's money at the Margot. But—there it ended. John had had to go home—on hands and knees—and the misus was waiting for him!

Now, he spent his life in scheming how he was to escape from, lie to,
and deceive his better half.
Delectable, growing wise in the petty lore of matrimony under difficulties—half plied and half dispersed the fellow. But he was kind, and there was just a touch of

but he nearly lost it as he listened.
His two hands were stretched to take Nonnie's cold ones.

"You shall not marry that man," he said, speaking louder than he intended in his intention. "I swear you shall not be bought and sold in a shameless way like that. Don't you be afraid, Nonnie. I'm the big brother like to spoiling you."

Shuffling outside the door drew their attention. Delectable felt nonnie's shudder, and sprang out on the landing. A thin dilapidated figure was scrambling down the stairs. Delectable followed it to the floor below, laying his hand on the back of the man's shoulder. He guessed it was Black Liz the spy.

"Leave her," he said, as the old wild cat swore off. "This won't pay.
You've been listening in, eh? Never mind sending me to hell at present.
You're busy on this earth, and we may as well understand each other.
I'm not coming here again. The lady up there won't allow a friendly call. So that ends the show, and later on if you don't talk of what don't concern you. Is that straight?"

The woman's expression changed to a leer as she grabbed the coin he tossed back. "Oh right. No one bin here today. That's my canny call. No one bin here—and won't come along as you bring the check.
I know, I know. And you'll come again. Course you will. There's the step, bless yer!"

Delectable would rather have been without that blessing as he went his way. He hated giving the bride-but there seemed nothing else to be done—at present. He would keep his promise loyally. A skirl of wind sweeping hurricane fashion up the street drove him staggering along the narrow pavement. It was a whirlwind—blatant and carried hard with it. He had better be returning to his lodging. It might even be politic to take Peg Clanders out to a cinema.
He didn't like that sort of thing, but he had to do it. Another whirlwind—and the hall came slantwise like a charge of artillery.

Delectable was about to lower his head to fight his way better than a cry from passers-by behind told of some danger or accident ahead. Yes—danger indeed, though Tilda Tosskins hurrying down the deserted street, did not see what the horrified folk around could see, namely the waiting, tottering chimney which, caught by the gale, was about to fall crashing on to the pavement immediately before her.

Nancy Carroll Shows Her Remarkable Dramatic Power in Dominion Picture

When Nancy Carroll appeared in "The Devil's Holiday" at the Paramount Theatre in New York early last summer, the metropolitan newspapers were as one in citing her capabilities as a remarkably talented dramatic actress.

This public appreciation of her gift for the more weighty type of character portrayal led Paramount to decide upon "Laughter" as her next dramatic release.

"Laughter" comes to the Dominion Theatre for a three-day run starting today. It is an original story written by Douglas Doty and Harry D'Abadie d'Arast.

Others in the cast of "Laughter" are Glenn Anderson, famous for his work in "Strange Interlude" on the Broadway stage; Frank Morgan, star of "Topaze," Broadway legiti-mate success; Diane Ellis, Leonard Carey, Worthington Romaine and others.

ROYAL The English Players Theatre who became a star of "Tons of Money" at the Royal week, could not have given a play that to the majority of people could give more pleasure and amusement than this joyous farce, which hasn't a dull moment, and is a laugh from beginning to finish. Each artist seems to be especially fitted for his or her part, and each part is perfectly acted.

COLISEUM Miss Adrienne Allen, who became a star overnight by her performance in "Loose Ends," is married to Raymond Massey, son of the well-known Canadian prominent in political circles. Raymond Massey is one of the best-known actors and producers in London, and has done much to further the cause of high class drama. Miss Allen is one of the biggest successes in "Loose Ends," and London critics prophesy a brilliant future for her.

PLAYHOUSE Two new song hits are introduced in "Their Own Desire."
Norma Shearer's all-talking picture which is now playing at the Playhouse Theatre. They are "Blue Is the Night," written by Fred Fisher, and "The Boy Friend," written by Reggie Montgomery and George Ward.

COLUMBIA Warner Baxter and Theatre Catherine Dale Owen are co-featured in "Such Men Are Dangerous." Fox Movie-Tone all-talking romance based on Elmer Gantry, a novel story, which closes today at the Columbia Theatre. The supporting cast embraces Albert Conti, Hedda Hopper, Claude Allister and Bela Lugosi.

CAPITOL Basil Rathbone, who will be seen in Uni-versal's "A Lady Surrenders" at the Capitol Theatre for the last times today, has enjoyed one of the most rapid rises to screen fame of any actor who has come into talking pictures. Featured in "A Lady Surrenders" are Conrad Nagel, Genevieve Tobin, Lena Ma-lena and Carmel Myers.

"Now girls," said the teacher, "can you tell me why the great man was buried in Westminster Abbey?"
"There was a long silence. At last a girl put up her hand:
"Because," she answered solemnly, and impressively, "he was dead."

and North makes a forcing opening bid of two Diamonds. In spite of the fact that partner has passed, this bid is justified, as North holds protection in all four suits. He might conventionally bid two No Trump, but the two of a suit seems safer. The Diamond being a minor suit, he can bid two No Trump should South bid either two Spades or two Hearts.

East passes and South bids two Diamonds. West passes and North now bids two No Trump. East passes and South bids three Spades.
West passes and North bids four Spades, concluding the bidding.

Auction: South and West passing. North makes the opening bid of one No Trump—there being no desire to force a bid from South.
East passes and South bids two Spades. West passes and North bids two No Trump. East passes and South bids three Spades, concluding the bidding.

THE PLAY
In the play of the hand South must endeavor to establish North's Diamonds before leading trumps so that partner will be a trump in Dummy with which to trump a third round of Hearts should it be necessary.

Model of Holy Land Extends Time of Showing

Tremendous Popularity of Model Decides Ganci Brothers in Favor of Longer Stay

The enthusiastic reception which the beautiful model of Palestine, now showing in the old Cathedral, has received in Victoria has decided the Ganci Brothers to extend their visit to this city for a further period. Hundreds of Victorians have passed through the building daily, many to return a second and a third time to gain a lasting impression of a model that is admitted by the highest authorities to be unique as it is amazing. It is to accommodate the many who have expressed a hope of seeing this exhibit that has caused the Ganci Brothers to remain longer than was originally intended.

This model, representing over eleven years of work and study, is forty-four feet long and eighteen feet wide, accurately reproducing the Holy Land of the days of our Lord. No book, map or history has been neglected to complete the magnificent exhibit with the smallest detail correct, while personal knowledge of the country on the part of the Ganci Brothers, inventors, makers and sole owners of the exhibit, has enabled them to impart the very Eastern atmosphere of vivid color and ancient mysticism.

Apart from the religious point of view the portrayal of Palestine is an amazing exhibition of engineering. Over 60,000,000 pieces are included in the manufacture, with 900 figures and 800 trees. Seven hundred and thirty of these figures are electrically driven, giving in life-like pantomime scenes from the life of our Lord.

No single crude feature mars this reverent portrayal of the New Testament, which has received the endorsement of eminent divines throughout the country.

One of the most frequent situations where a player is likely to use bad judgment is that where he holds a suit of six or more cards in a hand practically devoid of high card value.

Some players will go to an extreme in bidding such suit even where partner has shown a strong two-suited hand of his own. An unfortunate experience along this line is likely to make a player quit of rebidding such a suit even in such case as where partner has shown high Quick Trick values distributed among three or more suits, as indicated by an original bid of two of a suit, followed by a bid of No Trump instead of the bid of a second suit.

In the above deal, South, who has passed, should not only respond with a bid of two Spades when partner makes an opening bid of two Diamonds, but should bid three Spades over North's second bid—two No Trumps. Unless he do so, North cannot have any knowledge as to the character of the responsive bid of two Spades.
However, when South rebids the Spades, North can readily bid the four required for a game at Contract.

AUDITORS' REPORT TO SHAREHOLDERS—

We report to the Shareholders of the Imperial Bank of Canada that we have examined the Balance Sheet as at October 31st, 1930, and compared it with the books and vouchers at Head Office and with the certified returns from the Branches. We have obtained all the information and explanations that we have required, and in our opinion the transactions of the Bank which have come under our notice have been within the powers of the Bank, and as shown by the Balance Sheet. The above Balance Sheet does not include money which has been set aside by the Shareholders from time to time for the purpose of a Pension Fund.

Cost of Living

ROME, Nov. 25.—With little more than the wave of a hand, the Fascist Government has started a general reduction of 10 per cent in living costs throughout Italy that is designed to complete the effect of the recent decree reducing salaries of state employees by 12 per cent.

At no time since the regime was founded has its absolute power over the people made itself evident to better advantage. As a result of this general decline in prices, the whole nation is thrown into a state of economic defence which will go far to carry the country through the present world crisis.

Thus the Italian is perhaps the only Government in the world today which would have dared to cut the wages of its employees so suddenly as did the Fascists last week. But whereas that was effected by a new law, the present reduction in prices of all staple commodities, together with the tremendous advantage a simple statement on the part of the Government that "prices must come down 10 per cent." Even those chronically opposed to dictatorship realize the tremendous advantage this gives the country at present, when all Europe is waging an economic battle.

U.S. GRAIN EXPORTS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Exports of grain from the United States in the week ended November 22 totaled 1,063,000 bushels, as compared with 156,000 the preceding week and 2,871,000 in the corresponding week last year.

Canadian grains in transit cleared from United States Atlantic ports totaled 1,025,000 bushels. Canadian wheat flour shipped from United States ports totaled 25,000 barrels, and United States wheat flour exported amounted to 112,000 barrels.

TOTAL $438,192,479

MONTREAL, Nov. 25.—Showing an increase in deposits and total assets, a reduction in call loans and in current loans, a decrease in profits but an increase in surplus carried forward, as compared with last year, the annual report of the Bank of Montreal, for the year ended October 31, 1930, was issued to shareholders today.

The statement of assets and liabilities was unusually strong. Total assets were reported at $636,969,537, as compared with $622,599,648 last year. Of this total, liquid assets amounted to $438,192,479, or 59.32 per cent of total liabilities to the public.

The profit and loss account showed profits of $6,519,000 compared with $7,070,892 in the previous year. The profits added to the amount carried forward, make the total available for distribution $7,254,612.

A constructive feature is shown by the tendency of deposits to increase. Total deposits amounted to $697,395,742 in the present report, compared with $688,067,754 last year.

News From Mines

(Miller, Court & Co.)
The advance of eighteen points in the price of Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company shares, from 130 to 148, which has taken place in the past two days is of particular significance to shareholders of Canadian Pacific Railway, as it means an increase of nearly $5,000,000 in the market value of C.P.R.'s holdings of Smelter's stock.

As at December 31, 1929, Canadian Pacific Railway indicated in its report that it held 234,036 shares of Smelter's stock, or nearly 50 per cent. Assuming that the offering of one in twenty was taken up by the Canadian Pacific Railway, this would have added 12,702 shares on July 15, 1930, bringing the total holdings to 246,738 shares. An advance of eighteen points is, consequently, equivalent to an appreciation in market value of $4,801,284.

Another interesting point in connection with Canadian Pacific holdings of Smelter's stock, is that the value of the shares is taken on the Canadian Pacific's balance sheet at par value, or $25 per share. This indicates a very substantial "hidden" reserve. At 148 the market value of Canadian Pacific's holdings of Smelter's stock is $35,717,244. The par value of these shares is $6,106,450. There is thus a reserve of $29,610,794.

It should be noted that for every rise of one point in the price of Smelter's, the equity held by the Canadian Pacific Railway theoretically increases to the extent of $250,000. Shipments of copper concentrates to the Noranda smelter during October were exceptionally heavy according to F. M. Connolly, president of Amulet Mines, Limited. The underground development has been suspended for some time and it is announced the intention of the company is to suspend all operations until metal prices become stabilized at a higher level. In the interim, however, the company has been clearing up broken ore in hopes and cause operations to be again going ahead steadily. The shipments now being made will be paid for at the average rate for copper during this month so that the recent advance will react to the benefit of the company.

With regard to the reopening of the plant attention is drawn to the fact that this will not be done at the moment the price of copper moves up, as the fluctuations around the bottom level may be numerous and cause operations to be again suspended. The management will therefore wait until the price gives promise of stabilizing at least between 11 and 12c a pound.

Calgary Oil News

(Miller, Court & Co.)
Obstructions to the well were removed over the week-end from the Wellington well, southeastern Home area, according to officials. For several months the well has produced against a string of tools lost in the hole on the first burst production. The initial recovery rate was 175 barrels daily, but this tapered off to seventy-five barrels. Fishing operations were started two weeks ago and operators finally succeeded in clearing the hole as the week closed. The well yesterday was practically frozen off as a result of ice overflow of gas necessitated during the fishing job. It is expected that back pressure sufficient to dissolve the bridge will be built up in a day or so. Operators intend to run a small bit into the hole to clean it out before production is resumed. It is thought likely that additional footage will be attempted to take full advantage of the porous zone which has merely been tapped so far. The well is about 300 feet in the limestone, where its position is considered highly interesting as a possible test of the eastward extension of the prolific lime at the Home wells in the centre of the structure of the limestone of water.

As the hole was more than 6,000 feet deep the weight of the water column was sufficient to hold back a certain amount of gas during drilling operations. The light consistency of the fluid, however, would permit it to go farther into the lateral reaches of the lime than mud circulating fluids.

McLeod No. 5, western flank of Central Turner Valley producing zone, has resumed from the top of the lime. The well over the weekend was fifty feet in the formation drilling through casing cement.

No appreciable amount of gas has yet been encountered. Total depth of the well is about 5,000 feet.
Operators will endeavor to complete this well before reconditioning the producers.

McDougall Segur No. 2, Central Turner Valley, was drilling 560 feet in the limestone. A slight increase of gas has been released during recent drilling but nothing spectacular has occurred at the well. No. 3 was making new hole in the lime after drilling out cement.

The production of oil in Alberta during the month of August was the highest on record according to figures compiled in the Department of the Interior from the reports of the operators. The total output for the month reached 125,725 barrels, which was an increase of over 20,000 barrels over the same period last year.

The production from the various fields—Red Gouge, 6,423 barrels of light crude; Wapiti, 718 barrels of heavy crude; Skiff, 619 barrels of heavy crude; Turner Valley, 113,369 barrels of naphtha and 2,596 barrels of light crude.

Toronto Stock Exchange Market

TORONTO, Nov. 25.—Striking advances made by Superpetroleum, McColl-Fontenac and Page-Hervey Tubes on Toronto Stock Exchange today were maintained until the close with each of the issues mentioned leaving off strong. Superpet sold up to 32 for a new high, plus a special dividend of 10 cents. McColl advanced between two and three points, while Page-Hervey Tubes, at 90, had added another three to yesterday's good gain.

The entire oil group turned around before midday, but the interlisted issues eased somewhat before the close without, however, showing weakness.

Nickel, Brazilian and some of the other pivotal issues retreated slowly from their peak but on a reduced turnover and without bringing liquidation.

Foods were firm, Ford, Gypsum, Canadian Pacific Railway, Bell Telephone, Service Stations, had small gains. Walkers was firm at 7.

Dividend Payment of Imperial Oil Totals
Sum of $16,587,000(McNabney, Ross & Co., Ltd.)
Imperial Oil Company's recent dividend payment of 12 1/2 cents per share, plus a special distribution of 50 cents per share, represented a total distribution of $16,587,000, the number of shares outstanding being 26,540,508. There are approximately 55,000 shareholders, of whom 9,000 are employees of the company. Payment will be made December 15 to shareholders of record November 15.

In a statement after the directors' meeting, President C. O. Stillman said in part:

"Beginning a number of years ago, the directors have been using the capital of the shareholders in the acquisition of interests in various foreign properties, and a portion of these returns has been paid out in dividends. The remainder has been growing in volume until it has reached the amount which today was declared as a special payment. We decided upon this action because this fund, while it does not represent earnings from our operations in this country, is nevertheless the property of the shareholders, and the directors considered that a period of depression was a good time to give it to them. The payment, of course, is not a precedent, except possibly for the long future."

Alaska Paper Mill
Projects Discussed
By U.S. Commission

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—American plans to break virtual newspaper monopoly of Canada through establishment of power and paper pulp plants in Alaska, today were before the Federal Power Commission.

At its first session since August, the commission considered applications for licences to construct two such projects to cost approximately $30,000,000. Potential pulp production in Alaska is estimated at 1,000,000 tons yearly by B. F. Heintzleman, forest service expert.

Belgium Borrows in Europe to Repay U.S.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 25.—The Belgian 4-1/2 per cent exterior loan, totaling about $28,000,000, for refunding the American 8 per cent loan, is to be launched at Amsterdam, Basel and Stockholm, and to be followed by another short term loan of about $25,000,000 covering the budget deficit resulting from the industrial and commercial crisis.

Should German reparations payments be discontinued, it is held that payment of the American debt would have to be postponed.

WHEAT POOL MANAGER
TO BE CHOSEN TODAYCentral Board Meets in Winnipeg
J. I. McFarland Is Possibility
Despite Dental He Issue

WINNIPEG, Nov. 25.—The board of the central selling agency of the Canadian Wheat Pools will meet tomorrow to consider the appointment of a general manager. The session is the monthly meeting of the nine-member board from the three Prairie Provinces, but the pool has announced that the general manager appointment will be an important question on the agenda.

CENTRAL POOL BOARD

The general management has been vacant since the appointment of E. B. Ramsay to the chairmanship of the Board of Grain Commission last year ago.

Henry Wise Wood, Calgary; A. J. McPhail, Regina, and Colin H. Burnell, Winnipeg, presidents of the provincial pools, will attend the meeting as members of the board. In addition, the two board members from each of the provinces will be present.

DENIAL NOT ADHERED TO

OTTAWA, Nov. 25.—For more than an hour this morning, John I. McFarland, of Calgary, who has been mentioned in connection with the post of general manager of the central selling agency of the Western wheat pools, was closeted with Sir George Perley, acting Prime Minister.

When he came out after his discussion with Sir George, Mr. McFarland was again asked about the appointment. While he denied that he had been appointed, he did not say that he was not considering it.

Canadian Business
Weekly Publication
Sets World Record

Difficulties may best business but in Canada the fundamental note is one of confidence. This is indicated in the forward looking advertising programmes of Canadian industrial merchandising and financial institutions. This week, The Financial Post published a ninety-two-page paper, believed to be the largest issue of any financial paper ever published, not only in Canada but anywhere in the world. There are over 100,000 agents lines of special advertising in the issue. Most of the advertisements are expressions of reasoned faith in Canada's certain future by the leading business institutions of the country.

Exports of Pork
Reduced by High
Prices for GrainBy CHARLES LYNCH
(Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Service)

OTTAWA, Nov. 25.—In 1927 Canada exported $25,000,000 worth of pork and pork products. Last year these exports fell to $8,250,000. They are still falling and threaten to fall this year to less than $5,000,000.

That isn't all. Incredible as it may seem, Canada is importing pork. Until 1929 Canada imported about $500,000 worth of pork a year. Canada is even importing pork. Canada has more land than she knows what to do with. She has feed for pigs galore. Yet here she is, with agriculture supposed to be her basic industry, actually importing pork.

The explanation of the allegedly "incredible" phenomenon is quite simple. With wheat at $1.30 a bushel and barley at a corresponding price, it was generally more profitable to the Western farmer to sell the grain than to feed it to hogs to be sold at export prices; and at the same time the growing hog market in Canada absorbed larger quantities of pork. With the decline in the price of grain, it is again being fed to livestock, and the quantities, instead of being sold as hogs, are produced from cheap corn in the United States, where breeds of swine adapted to that purpose are more in favor.

THE DOT CARTOONIST, BY GEORGE BELL

Angelo Ealon doesn't feel any too safe in spite of his splendid hiding place. Angry spouses are apt to find their quarry regardless of where it is concealed. And Angelo's wife has an eye like an X-ray and a swing like ... (Kindly draw straight lines between the numbers).

"CATCH PENNY"

We have all seen, heard and perhaps used this word which is a reference to something practically valueless and which is sold very cheap.

We would perhaps be justified in surmising that this is just a combination of the two words "catch" and "penny," used in the sense known to all; but, as in the case with many similar incidents, our first conclusion would be wrong.

Actually, we have the word after James Calinach, who, in the first half of the nineteenth century published worthless literature which was peddled in the streets very cheaply. Because of the low price at which this so-called literature was sold, the publisher came to be known as Calinach Penny, which, subsequently was corrupted into the word we know today as "catch penny."

They say that man swears far too oft. And yet 'twas Mother Eve Who started this profanity. Which causes wisely perch. "What shall we eat," said Adam once. Bananas, date, or yam?" Eve stretched, smiled happily, and said, "I do not care, Adam."
